Legislature To Be Called Before End Of Present Year For Action

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot today abandoned his intention of calling a special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature to deal with the public utility situation but, in a forthright statement, declared that before the end of 1931 he will summon an extra session to deal with unemployment relief and will recommend to the assembly the issue of long-term "prosperity bonds" to relieve distress and restore prosperity to the Commonwealth.

"During the last campaign," the Governor stated, "I announced repeatedly that unless certain necessary public utility legislation was passed at the recent session of the General Assembly I would call an extra session.

Situation Needs Action
"When that statement was made no one could have foreseen that the unemployment situation would develop into a nation-wide catastrophe, as it has. No one could have foreseen that the situation in Pennsylvania would become so serious as to require a special session of the Legislature devoted solely to (Continued On Page Eleven)

Virginia Officials Contend Elisha Kent Kane Murdered Pretty Wife

HAMPTON, Va., Sept. 17.—Heard straight for a grand jury, the strange case of Professor Elisha Kent Kane, 37-year-old University of Tennessee romance language teacher, charged with the murder of his pretty 30-year-old wife Jenny, swung into the final phase of its preliminary stages today.

On the eve of a final session of the four-day coroner's jury inquest into the circumstances of the death of Mrs. Kane by drowning last Friday, commonwealth Attorney Roland D. Cock revealed he considered his case one which he could "take to any grand jury in the world confident of a true bill."

The final session of the inquest was scheduled this morning. This session was asked by the defense. Cock revealed that the prosecution has concluded presentation of its evidence before Coroner Dr. G. K. Vandervelde.

Probe "Woman Angle"
He said the defense, headed by Percy Carmel, Hampton attorney and E. Kent Kane of Bradford, Pa., a cousin of the defendant, asked time to consider putting on additional witnesses and gathering loose ends of evidence they considered favorable to the college professor and scion of a famous wealthy Pennsylvania family.

The "other woman" angle, which bobbed up as an admitted possibility on the part of the prosecutor early in the proceedings remained as much a mystery as ever, except that two (Continued On Page Two)

Racing Events Get Under Way At Fair Today

Fast Contests Both This Afternoon And Friday At Fair Track

MANY FEATURES DRAW INTEREST

Expect Big Crowd To Attend Program On Friday Afternoon

Croton Avenue and the Harlanburg Road are busy traffic arteries today. At noon the jam began and by early afternoon there were cars in line almost from the city to the Fair Grounds, most of the cars headed for the center of entertainment at the present time, the New Castle Fair.

Like all opening days Wednesday did not attract any huge crowd nor did it expect it would. Today is different. The harness racing opens today, the cattle exhibits are being judged, the midway is organized and the weather is perfect. What more could you ask?

Fast Steppers.
Early today the trotters were out on the track limbering up, getting the feel of the track and preparing themselves for the races this afternoon. The entry list shows some fast horses and several of them will try for the track record.

In addition to the harness races there will be a mule race as a laugh producer and those who have seen the mule races at other fairs this season say it is the funniest thing on the grounds. The mules for the race arrived at noon.

Over in the grange hall of the fair are found attractions that appeal to the house wife. Great rows of cakes and jellies and preserves, canned fruit and vegetables, quilts and fancywork. Commercial exhibitions of refrigerators, furniture, kitchen equipment, rugs, time savers and wife savers, all of them spread out in an attractive manner to please the eye and persuade the pocketbook. Over in another hall is a large display of rabbits which were being judged today, and from the advertisements one judges that rabbit meat is considered the proper thing for the best dinner tables.

Navarian Island Is Safe Haven For Fliers When Plane Fools On Dangerous Hop

(International News Service)
ST. PAUL, Alaska, Sept. 17.—Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen, California aviators who vanished ten days ago attempting a non-stop flight from Japan to Seattle, may take to the air again today.

Their plane apparently is safe and ready to resume the flight, according to a conversation between the radio station here and the Russian Soviet Steamer Buriat, which rescued the missing airmen when they became stranded on Navarin Island.

In the conversation conducted from St. Paul with a Russian priest acting as interpreter, the flyers were reported as preparing for an immediate hop and may start today. Moyle and Allen landed safely on Navarin Island, near Cape Navarin Island. Their plane has been refueled by the Buriat and the ship was reported undamaged when the flyers came down, presumably because of lack of fuel.

Weather Unfavorable.
According to the conversation with the rescue ship, the weather was unfavorable for the resumption of the flight this morning, although storms around Navarin Island were reported subsiding early today.

The Russian priest interpreter said the rescue ship was vague as to the planned destination of the flyers, although he said as far as he could understand Moyle and Allen planned to go direct to Seattle from the island. They would probably pass over or near St. Paul.

Electric Company Head Proposes National Trade Association As Aid

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—An aid to unemployment was offered today by Gerald Swope, electric company head.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the National Electric Manufacturers Association here last night he proposed a new constitution for industry, designed to stabilize production and consumption, minimize unemployment and solve the problem of the worker's security.

The plan offered voluntary organization of each industry into a national trade association, which would exercise control over production.

The scheme would place every industrial or commercial company with fifty or more employees engaged in interstate business under a supervisory body passing on all proposed practices in the interest of safeguarding the public.

Disposition To Leave Democratic Commissioner Nomination To Official Count

There is still some doubt as to the successful candidate for county commissioner on the Democratic ticket. According to the latest check up at the county commissioners' office W. Grover Stevenson of Washington township is eight votes ahead of T. C. Marshall of Ellwood City.

Neither of the candidates was at the commissioners' office this morning, and the disposition seems to be to let the matter stand until the return board makes the official count. The return board, which will be appointed by the county commissioners this afternoon, will begin the count at noon Friday. It is not likely to be completed until about the middle of next week.

Young Lad Dies From Revolver Bullet Wound

West Pittsburg Boy Shot By Accident By His Playmate

WAS "FOOLING" WITH AN OLD REVOLVER

Believed Shell In Gun Was Dead, But It Finally Exploded

Mike Di Angelo, aged 12 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Di Angelo of West Pittsburg lies dead today as a result of a gun shot wound inflicted at the hands of one of his best beloved playmates, Joseph Pattizani, aged 14, also of West Pittsburg.

Joseph Pattizani was brought to the city police station Wednesday night by Detective C. G. Logan, Officers Hanna and Dukes and Assistant County Detective B. J. Rocks and after questioning he was turned over to Jack Dunlap, juvenile officer.

Found Old Gun
According to the story of Joseph he had found an old 38 calibre revolver some days ago and when found it had one bullet in it, which he shot off at the time, but he had secured another shell in some manner and Wednesday as the boys were out playing in the evening, and tending a cow which had been put out to pasture, Joseph, his brother Pete, and Mike Di Angelo were sitting about the ground and Joseph was monkeying with the revolver. He had snatched it several times and the bullet did not seem to want to go off.

As he was handling the gun and snapping it, Mike walked in front of him and as he did so the hammer hit the bullet in such a manner that it exploded, hitting young Di Angelo about the middle of the chest.

Alarm Is Spread
Mike staggered and fell and Joseph and Pete became so badly frightened they did not know what to do and argued about whether they should go and tell their mother or not, then Joseph raised up Mike's (Continued On Page Two)

Myrtle St. Pierre, Files Suit Against Evangelist's Husband For Huge Amount

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17.—An answer to the charge of Myrtle H. St. Pierre's $200,000 breach of promise suit was on file in superior court here today in behalf of David L. Hutton, newlywed husband of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, noted woman evangelist.

The answer was in the form of a categorical denial of all the accusations contained in Miss St. Pierre's suit. The 29-year-old nurse contends that Hutton betrayed her under promise of marriage several months before the baritone choir singer eloped last Sunday with the evangelist to Yuma, Arizona.

Meanwhile Miss St. Pierre today reiterated her willingness to make an out-of-court settlement. But from San Francisco where Hutton and Aimee are enroute to a revival campaign to be held in Portland, Ore., came word that the baritone would refuse to negotiate for any settlement.

Stocks Rally In Today's Market

After Starting Day At Handicap, Leading Stocks Go To Higher Levels

PROFESSIONALS "COVERING UP"

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service
Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Though starting the day at a handicap, most of the active stocks displayed good rallying power today, and won back the ground lost in the early selling flurry. The bears pounded the utility stocks and the specialties in the first period, encouraged by the weak resistance to selling pressure in the final part of Wednesday's session. Many of the best known stocks tumbled to the lowest prices in one to two years and a 500,000-share volume passed through in the first half hour.

The early reaction in U. S. Steel carried that stock down a point to 78 1/2. American Tel. & Tel. lost 1 1/2. Consolidated Gas and Columbia dropped to new low levels on the move, and United Corporation, a large holder of the stocks of both companies, fell off fractionally to a new low at 17 1/8. All of these records were bettered, however, as selling pressure died out and buying orders increased.

Auburn Auto was a pace-setter in the rally of the favorites in the fourth hour, advancing about 5 points to 122. General Motors led the fourth consecutive session held firmly in the face of considerable irregularity in the balance of the automobile group.

The market as a whole appeared to be in a "sold out" condition in the early afternoon. Rallies in the industrials were more pronounced and reports from the "floor" were to the effect that the professionals were covering their short lines.

Special Speakers At Salvation Army

With the largest crowd yet attending the special meetings now being held in The Salvation Army Ensign and Mrs. William McCowan were the special guest speakers last night, many of the friends who had not seen them since they were stationed here four years ago were glad to greet them.

Mrs. C. Smith, the Sunday school superintendent of the Beaver Falls Corps sang a solo "He Knows". A. Mathews gave two selections on his musical saw. The text of the evening was "Vision" in which the Ensign led his hearers to see their shortcomings morally and spiritually, and urged for decision to do what God of old did when he was willing to consecrate his life for service, to do and go the way of the Christian and become a benefit to humanity.

Tonight Captain and Mrs. C. Young of The Salvation Army in Greenville will speak and Friday night Captain and Mrs. F. Gibson of Meadville will be the guest speakers.

Maybe it was because the members of the board had been up late the night before, waiting for election returns, or maybe they were celebrating the nomination of the four old members, but at any rate, the school board adjourned at a remarkably early hour. Washington Warden Somewhat Worried By Strange Case Of Man

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Warden Creigh of the Washington County jail has his worries, what with Mauro Bango of Donora in the institution.

Bango has been in jail so often for violating the prohibition laws he knows all the officers and most of the prisoners by their first names. And he rather likes the jail.

He was sentenced to jail last year but paroled because of an illness. Promptly he returned home, began manufacturing liquor (according to police) and was rearrested.

Bango was satisfied, but physicians said if he remained in jail he would die of his illness.

Sentence was deferred and county officials are wondering what to do with Mauro.

women who flatly refused to divulge their names came quietly to the Elizabeth City county jail where Kent is held and asked to see the defendant.

They were told to return later and were expected sometime today.

Shy From Photographers

They were shy of newspapermen and photographers and were hardly noticed as they came up to Deputy Sheriff T. S. Curtis in charge of the investigation and asked to see Kane. Afterwards they revealed to International News Service they were "friends of Mrs. Kane," and were from outside Hampton.

They refused to say whether they came offering information or simply to see the defendant. Certain letters were introduced in the coroner's inquest, but were understood to be correspondence between the married couple charged with murder and his dead wife.

If any letters known to have passed between Kane and any person other than his wife have come into possession of either defense or prosecution authorities, they have not been introduced in the star chamber inquest hearings, according to Sheriff Curtis.

Seeking Release

Carmel planned to again apply to Circuit Court Judge C. Vernon Sprately in an effort to have Kane released on bail today, but prosecution officials seemed confident their plea would be denied.

Their first effort in the direction launched yesterday, failed. Cock declared the prosecution had "important evidence" in its possession which has not as yet been produced in inquest hearings, but indicated this would be brought out in a preliminary hearing of the murder charge contained in the warrant on which Kane was arrested. INQUEST WILL BE HELD IN DEATH OF RICH YACHTSMAN

28-year-old widow of the slain man, will be interrogated by the authorities again, even though her relatives have retained legal counsel to "protect her rights". Officials of Suffolk county, who now have assumed jurisdiction over the case, insist that further questioning of the woman is necessary to aid in clarification of certain details of the murder mystery.

A coroner's inquest was to be held today at Huntington town hall, where temporary investigation headquarters have been established.

Inquest Delayed

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The inquest into the murder of Benjamin P. Collings, yachtman, will be held tomorrow instead of today as was scheduled, district Attorney Alexander G. Blue, of Suffolk county, announced this morning.

"Certain developments caused him to delay the inquest until he has investigated the killing further, Blue said. He declared there was a possibility that Collings had been killed by a lunatic, which might explain the weird circumstances of the murder as related by the widow Mrs. Lillian Collings.

Was Beaten To Death

Huntington, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Benjamin P. Collings was battered to death as he lay, partly on his stomach on the deck of his cruiser the Penguin.

The murderer committed his crime with a milk bottle which shattered in a thousand pieces as it fractured Collings' skull and led Mrs. Lillian Collings, covering in the little cabin below, to believe that a window in a porthole had been smashed.

"A certain sinister group of facts" which has come into the knowledge of District Attorney Alexander G. Blue this morning led him to postponement of the inquest in Collings' murder, which was to have been held today, till tomorrow.

A huge police net has been thrown over New York, Connecticut and New Jersey which it is hoped will net the two pirate murderers, the one a burly gray man with close-shaven white head and heavy, beaming blue eyebrows, the other a thin, nervous, dark lad of 17 or 18.

shirt, and seeing the wound and blood he became alarmed and decided the boys better go and tell someone, but just as they started some other children came running to see what had happened and they spread the alarm and grown people came and found Mike.

The boy was brought to the New Castle hospital about eight o'clock and every thing possible was done to save his life, but about one o'clock this morning he died.

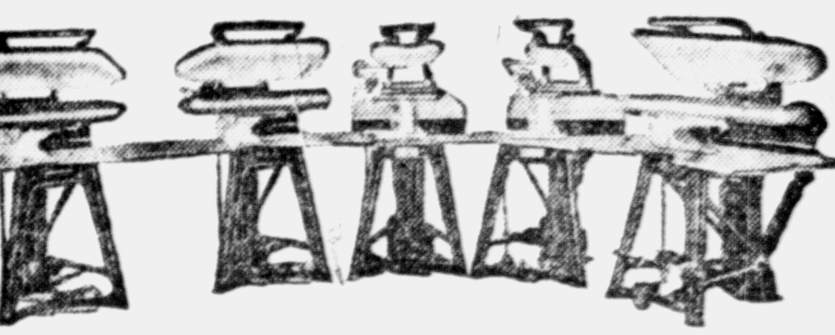

Coroner J. P. Caldwell was called, and this morning at the police station, the lad told the same story as he had Wednesday night. A number of his playmates who had come up after the accident were called upon and they told that Joseph and Mike had always been the best of friends, never having been known to quarrel and Joseph is heart broken at what has happened.

Coroner Caldwell will hold an inquest Friday after the funeral services.

Mike Di Angelo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Di Angelo of West Pittsburg and is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: James, Mary, Florence, Alfred, Clare, Tony, Anna and Frank.

Funeral services will be held Friday with a brief service at the home in West Pittsburg at 2 p. m. and further services in the Italian Christian church on Taylor street, this city, with Rev. Frank Maruso officiating. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

LALLY-ROSE MARRIAGE PERFORMED TODAY

A pretty wedding was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock this morning in St. Margaret's church when Miss Margaret Elizabeth Lally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lally of 207 Madison avenue, became the bride of Charles H. Rose, son of Charles B. Rose of Girard, Ohio.

The Rev. Fr. A. P. Sholz, pastor officiated with the ring ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, before an altar beautifully embowered.

The bride was attractive in a gown of black transparent velvet with head dress to match, and other accessories. She carried an arm cluster of roses and valley-lilies. Chosen as her attendant, Miss Miriam Rose, of Girard, O., and sister of the groom, wore a gown of rose transparent velvet, fashioned alike on the styles now decreed. She had accessories and hat to match, and carried an arm bouquet of the mixed flowers.

J. Kenneth Lally, brother of the bride, served as best man. Following the reading of the nuptials, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the brides parents. Covers were laid for 20 at the bridal table, which was beautifully appointed in tones of pink and white. A large wedding cake topped with a tiny bride and groom formed the centerpiece.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Rose left on an extended motor trip, their destination which was unrevealed, and upon their return, will be at home to their friends at the Lally residence on Madison avenue.

ALMIRA LADIES GUESTS AT TEA

A most interesting event of Wednesday afternoon was the tea given in the parlors of the Highland United Presbyterian church by the Baird Missionary Society for the ladies of the Almira Home.

The church parlors were a bower of beauty with decorations of baskets and bowls of the most beautiful in the summer's late offering of flowers. A table was arranged with three dozen small dolls, which were dressed recently by the members of the society to be sent to a foreign mission station for Christmas, and these were greatly admired by the guests.

About two o'clock the women of the society appeared at the portals of the Home with their automobiles and assisted Mrs. Phoebe Simons, Mrs. Margaret Anderson, Mrs. Lou Ritter, Miss Hallie Leslie who was charter member of Highland church and acted as secretary pro tem at the initial meeting of the congregation. Miss Margaret Henderson, Mrs. Mary C. McCracken, Miss Mary Stewart, Miss Ruth Pettit, Mrs. Isabel Withrow, Miss Alice Black, Mrs. Leila Brown, Miss Rebecca Tolles, Miss Hanna McCracken and Mrs. Emma Greeley into the waiting cars and whisked them to the church, where they were greeted by Mrs. J. Gail Blum, president of the society; the hostesses, Mrs. C. J. Streib, Mrs. R. L. Eckles, Mrs. H. S. Kison, Mrs. Ralph Davis, Mrs. B. G. Welsch, Mrs. John Haven, Mrs. L. C. Barry and other members of the society.

Mrs. Ray Rhodes was the leader for the afternoon and conducted the devotionals. Mrs. J. F. Replogle led the singing and sang a solo with Miss Beatrice Laverick as the accompanist. Miss Laverick also played a number of piano numbers and Jane Haven amused with her readings. "Entertaining Sister's Bear" and "Tom Boy."

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. W. C. Winsborough of Shreveport, La., was introduced by Mrs. H. S. Kison and she gave a most interesting talk on "The Women of Korea" and held the rapt attention of her hearers for every moment of her discourse. She had a number of curios from Korea, which attracted much attention both from the aged women and the members of the society.

Following Mrs. Winsborough's talk the doors of the junior room were thrown open and the hostesses welcomed the women and seated them at small tables, which were set for four and centered with bud vases containing dainty yellow flowers, which carried out a color scheme of yellow and green, used in the appointments.

At the place of each woman from the Almira Home and those of the special guests, Mrs. Rose M. Sloan, matron of the Home; Mrs. W. C. Winsborough, speaker of the afternoon and her daughter Mrs. Archibald H. Davis Jr. were placed old fashioned coronets and the dainty lace paper which was frilled about the flowers, formed a pretty background as the ladies pinned them to their frocks. The son of Mrs. Davis was also a guest.

Light refreshments were served and after a period of getting acquainted the women were again returned to the Home by their "lady chauffeurs."

Mrs. Ray Rhodes, Mrs. F. L. Burton and Mrs. J. W. McCreary decorated the parlors and Mrs. Harry McFeaters was chairman of transportation.

Mrs. Annie M. Anderson of 119 Adams street, has been admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital for treatment.

AN OLD STORY

EVER since man first settled on the islands and the shores of the Caribbean he has been plagued by that combination of violent winds and torrential rains which is known there as the hurricane. Late summer or early autumn is its chosen time. Porto Rico, Santo Domingo, Haiti, Jamaica, Cuba and even Florida have all felt its fury. Last week's storm struck a new place, British Honduras, and an old, Porto Rico.

Both Porto Rico and nearby Haiti have often bowed to the hurricane's force. Last year Haiti was particularly hard hit. Three years ago Porto Rico was laid waste and at the same time Cuba was battered by the winds and rain. In 1926 a particularly violent tropical storm hounded through the Caribbean to land with full force in Florida, leaving a wake of death, suffering and damage that took months to repair. Similar storms, usually of lesser intensity, have swept across the Gulf of Mexico and whirled through Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and up the Mississippi Valley. Porto Rico's sorrow came three years ago today. The Florida disaster was five years ago next Friday.

The current storm in Porto Rico was a minor part of the hurricane proper, which swung around a high-pressure area, struck British Honduras with its full force and moved on along the coast of Mexico. Only when its fury has been blown out will its full course and its full damage become known. It is an old story of tragedy in an age-old setting; only its details and its victims are new.

APPLES

Of the fruits that delight the eye and please the palate, none is more deserving of praise than the Pennsylvania apple. Since prehistoric times apples have been known and their cultivation began in a remote period. With the exception of those regions of extreme heat or cold, apples grow everywhere. Even where the fruit is small the trees are prized for the blossoms. There are almost as many varieties of apples as there are soils and climates, and they differ in size all the way from the Siberian Crab to the pound Pippin, and in flavor from the tart Greening to the insipid Ben Davis. Yet, common as the apple is, it is not commonplace nor has its popularity ever waned. Alongside the peach, the pear, the plum and the apricot, the apple holds by general consent a seat of priority.

Whichever way you eat an apple, whether you pare and halve it with a knife, or following the homespun fashion, eat it out of hand, skins and all, it is good. "An apple a day" may not "keep the doctor away," altogether, but as a wholesome and healthful fruit, the apple is justly famed. Pies may come and pies may go, but apple pies go on forever. As for apple butter, well, there may be better "spreads" but up to date they have not been invented or discovered. Sweet apple cider is the only interesting temperance drink in the world, and oh boy, to think of an apple cobbler swimming in a bowl of jersey cream!

The apple days are here. Fill up the bin. The long evenings have come. Keep the home fires burning in the open fireplaces, and likewise a plate or basket of red apples on the table in the living room. As long as there are apples, particularly red apples, life is worth the struggle.

MURRAY'S BID FOR THE PRESIDENCY

National issues and proposed remedies for national ills featured Governor Murray's Labor day speech in Chicago. No definite announcement is needed after that appearance to place Oklahoma's chief executive among the presidential aspirants. His description of the man who should be president was largely his own estimate of himself, and it is a characteristic of his conceit that he thinks that well of few if any others. He turns to national affairs with some of the ideas he has sought to apply to this commonwealth, and his whole plea was a brief for radical changes from existing methods in government and finance. His slogan of "bread and butter, bacon and beans," is a catch phrase that will be heard around the world, and surely as appealing as the "full dinner pail" of McKinley's and Mark Hanna's time.

Despite the wide publicity gained in this and other ventures, Governor Murray's bid for the presidency is much more obvious than his chances are. He has the demagogue's understanding of the appeal to poor people of attacks upon the rich during hard times, but he forgets the dread of radicalism inherent in the large conservative portion of our population. His early bid for the presidency lessens the likelihood that he will be able, as a dark horse, to stampede the convention, in the event of a deadlock between Newton D. Baker and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. Also, his gesture will stir the friends of Governor Roosevelt, now apparently far in the lead, to obtain delegates enough to assure nomination.

Not yet a serious threat for the nomination, Governor Murray still is formidable enough to command attention beyond the borders of the state he heads. Any evidence that he is gaining considerable strength will stiffen opposition against his candidacy. Even as the radical and visionary Bryan stirred his opponents to Herculean efforts to achieve his defeat, so will Murray, if ever the time should come when he seems more formidable. Happily for America, he begins by being geographically wrong. The record of his lust for power is an open book in Oklahoma, of which the nation will know more before the convention assemblies. Presumably America still wants a president, and not a dictator.—The Oklahoma City Times.

Scared Cat
He Blusters, He Swaggers
He's Scared

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I know him. So do you. He blusters. He swaggers. He has a red face. He growls. He snorts. He shouts. He bullies his way down the highway in his automobile and can't bear to have anybody get ahead of him. He cuts in on the car ahead when there is not really room to pass. If there is the slightest delay in the traffic, he honks and honks and honks.

He snarls at waiters and orders them around. Complains of the service. Kicks about the food. Is never satisfied. Tips with a growl. Hardly anything ever pleases him. He's crochety, he's cranky. He insists on the best all the time. He talks a good deal about the "mob" about "muffs" and "saps" sometimes, when his stomach is full and he's just put over a deal, he talks genially to those he considers his equals and condescends to those he considers his inferiors.

He has humanity nicely divided into those below and those above. He bears down on the people beneath him, he kneels to those who have more money or more power. At home he's the boss. He has ideas about raising children and he puts them into practice. He thinks he is a good husband and a fair father—but the family may have other ideas.

In fact, he looks upon himself as a Strong Man, who has made a success and is afraid of nothing.

But he's wrong. He's afraid of the most important thing—he's afraid of Life. Secretly—and he will confess this to no one not even himself—he is not comfortable, he is not at ease with living. He blusters because he is afraid. He swells out his chest because he does not know how to be at home with people. His contempt for his "inferiors" is a self-defense. His swagger is an empty pose. He is lonely—he is a Scared Cat!

Whom am I describing? Not any particular human being, I must admit. But I'm thinking of a considerable number of men whom I have known and of almost any of us, when we are afraid we have lost the way and will not admit that we are just lonely and frightened children who don't know how to act. There's a Scared Cat in most of us, but when life gets him by the tail he pretends to be a Terrible Tiger. And sometimes he succeeds. And sometimes he makes a miserable mess of it.

AN UNEASY GUEST MAKES AN UNEASY HOST

What is worse than a fidgety guest?

One who wants to keep moving all the time, insists upon doing something to help, particularly at a time when what is most desired of her is that she absent herself or keep out of the way.

Then there is the man guest who visits his host at his place of business.

He persists in talking and asking questions about the business; he talks to the employees and routine work interferes with regular routine. The business place visitor is still more of a nuisance when he is a guest of an employee whose time is not his own and so much work has to be turned out.

The employer cannot be blamed if a person is permitted to visit the place who makes it hard to produce the required quantity.

It matters not whether the visitor be quiet and unobtrusive or not, his presence in itself tends to interfere with routine work.

And the uneasy guest who makes the business office a waiting room long before time for his train to depart and worries about starting for the station is one of the worst.

He makes his ride about the city disagreeable by his anxiety to make that train, after his host is well started for the place of departure. Are you in this class?

THE SULLEN MOUNTAIN

He built a mountain of his loss
Which he could never see across.

His lofty pinnacle of woe,
Was crested with perpetual snow.

Gray rock and gaunt sides sparsely clad
Told grimly of the grief he'd had.

Where'er he turned from day to day
The sullen mountain blocked his way.

Stranger and neighbors he's accost:
With: "Standard see how much I've lost!"

Then came an old man gray and wise
Who on the mountain cast his eyes.

"Friend," he exclaimed, "you should be glad
So many blessings to have had!"

"You've built a mountain, towering tall,
Of joys I've never known at all!"

Italy's Church-State Accord Is Credited To Compromise

Diplomacy In Negotiations Is Found To Have Established, More Clearly Than Previously, Existing Line Between Spiritual And Other Activities

Skill in diplomacy and the spirit of compromise exhibited by both parties is praised by Americans in commenting on the settlement reached between the Mussolini government in Italy and Pope Pius XI. It is held that previous agreements were inadequate and did not clearly define the relations of state and church to the training of youth. Under the new arrangements, the church is left unhampered in guarding the spiritual welfare of those who compose the Catholic Action clubs, while anti-Fascists are not to be active within those organizations, and the state is to control athletics and purely material matters. Satisfaction is expressed that an agreement was reached.

The settlement is credited by the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS to "tactful diplomacy" with recognition that "the controversy, if continued because of metaphysical differences, would have injured both the Fascist state and the church." That paper also comments: "Although the Vatican cannot consistently concede to the Fascist government the sole and absolute right to mold the education of the young, recognition by the government that religious education is a function of the church establishes a basis for co-operation between church and state. Practical difficulties may be encountered, but there will be dealt with as they promises are contemplated. There is no doubt that the settlement is a triumph for the church and the state. Both emphasize duty, discipline, loyalty, and patriotism, and both opposed and condemned certain modern tendencies in government, dress and social life generally.

The difficulties involved are emphasized by the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, with the statement:

Here were two sovereigns, existing side by side within Italy, each with its own claim to domain in directing the lives of the Italian people. The Fascist state recognized the rights of the church in spiritual affairs, while the church recognized the rights of the state in the physical or material. But there is a border line territory between the two sovereignties in which each asserted its superiority and that was the education of the young. The Bulletin concludes: "For both church and state the imperative need for settlement, the hard pressure of reality—call it facts if you will—forced an accommodation of theory to the demands for the situation, and it is a tribute to the subtle diplomatic skill of the Vatican and Fascist diplomats that they were able, by deft maneuvering, to settle the insoluble—at least to bridge the chasm that the issue had split open—without at the same time a loss of dignity on the part of the two protagonists."

It appears the situation brought about without either Mussolini or the Pope capitulating, says the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, while the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR remarks that a long dispute "has been patched up by one of those pleasant agreements that concede victory to both sides." The Times-Star enlarges this statement with the comment: "Some 15,000 Catholic youth clubs are allowed."

which is what Pope Pius XI wanted, on condition that they do not engage in political action, which, according to the Vatican, they never did. On the other hand, Mussolini would seem to have won his point by refusing Catholic Action a special dispensation from political activities, explicitly from political activities.

Important fact is that the two dominant Italian powers, each supreme in its own field, have buried the hatchet. The agreement once more permits Italian youth to belong both to Catholic action and to the Fascist party. It will be interesting to see how many of the youth will do so.

It is upon the expediency in fact, rather than in word, that the harmony of church and state in Italy must rest.

From the banks of the Tiber, the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "has this come, at a timely moment, an example which will hardly be lost upon other powers."

The paper states as to the issues: "The condition is automatically established whereby Italian youth may belong both to Catholic Action clubs and to the all-powerful political organization which owes allegiance to Mussolini. To this extent the Vatican appears to have scored a considerable victory. Early in the controversy the Fascist high command declared that membership in the two organizations was incompatible."

The concordat and Lateran accord of last year were supposed to have laid the definite foundations of peace between the Fascist government and the Holy See. The violent clashes which ushered in the feud, now happily suppressed, indicated that further agreements were required if that peace was to be of enduring character. These have now been achieved."

"The nub of the entire controversy was and still is child control, and whether this has been permanently settled remains to be seen," in the judgment of the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) UNION. THE SCRANTON TIMES holds that the agreement is "proof that diplomacy can bridge what to some may have looked like an insuperable gulf."

The ROYAL OKE TIMES feels that "both parties to the controversy may be said to have carried their point in the terms of the settlement."

"The victory, to whomsoever the greater share of the laurels goes, according to the CLEVELAND NEWS, 'has been made possible by a laudable spirit of compromise."

While recognizing the youth's club to be properly under diocesan control, the Italian government stipulates that they shall be entirely purged of politics. With characteristic thoroughness it insists that club officers may not be chosen from political groups hostile to Fascism. Members must abstain from trade union matters and devote their activities entirely to religious objectives. The church, in all probability will be conscious of no hardship in reasserting religious leadership over an organization dedicated from the first to spiritual endeavor."

I saw at the Gary plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company the set up for a continuous mill which will take the sheets from the hot rolls and without being touched by human hands or tongs will be pickled, annealed, cold rolled, annealed, pickled, bathed clean and tinned. I think I have remembered the several processes in their order in any event the whole process from hot rolls to finished tin-plate is done by machinery. At Gary the company is also building a four-high mill. That plant of the Company is the most modern plant in the world. With the improvement they have and will, have they have increased the capacity of the plant nearly three fold over what it was when built twenty-five years ago, that is, per mill. And yet, I am informed, they have not discharged a single man at Gary except for incompetence.

The great problem is to sell the product of this plant and the products of all the similar improved plants of all kinds in these United States. When the capacity is increased three times it necessitates finding three times as many customers or the customers must use three times as much product.

The present condition of affairs needs super salesmen.

Schedule Six Stops For Bankers' Tour

Seven farm stops in North Beaver township will be made by Lawrence county's bankers when they embark on their third annual tour of the county's rural sections on Thursday, September 24. The tour route was announced by County Farm Agent H. R. McCulloch today.

Starts After Lunch.

Gathering at the Lawrence County Agricultural association office, South Croton avenue, the bank officers and directors will leave promptly at 1 o'clock in a caravan of cars for Mt. Jackson, where they are scheduled to visit the modern dairy plant of the Lingeright Dairy company.

After an inspection of the dairy plant workings, the caravan will continue to the farm of W. J. Duff located near Bessemer, where they will look after a flock of sheep which gets the cream of attention at that farm.

The third stop will be at the H. L. McCulloch farm, below Mt. Jackson, where the specialty is jersey cattle and poultry.

At the fourth they will observe the poultry and guernsey cattle of William R. Fox.

The James Kelso fruit farm is the fifth on the itinerary given out today with the David A. Byler potato farm scheduled as the last visit.

Climaxing the day's program will be a banquet program in the Westfield grange hall at 5:30 o'clock, with the grange ladies in charge of the serving.

Will Hear Editor.

A short and snappy business meeting following the dinner with President Joel S. McKee of the bankers' association presiding. Immediately following will come the evening's entertainment program with an address by Wheeler McMillen, noted editor of Country Home, as the premier feature. Mr. McMillen will forecast "Agriculture's Tomorrow. That will be his subject.

Farmers and farm ladies from all over Lawrence county are urged to be at Westfield for the speaking program which starts at 8. All are invited to hear the intelligent outlook on rural America's future which Mr. McMillen is certain to bring.

Reports during the evening's program will also be brought by two farm men, Dale McCulloch and George Young, delegates to last week's Young Farmers' Leadership course at State College. Their presence was sponsored by the county bankers.

Lawrence County School Men Meet

Principals Organize For Coming Year And Elect Officers Last Night

The Lawrence County High School Principals' association held its first meeting of the 1931-32 school term on Wednesday evening, September 16, at the Y. M. C. A.

The following officers were elected: President, Walt Whitman, New Wilmington; vice president, Gerald E. Nord, Bessemer; secretary, Porter R. McCandless, Harlansburg. Plans were made for the annual high school principals' and teachers' dinner. R. F. Conway of Union was appointed chairman of the committee for arrangements and permitted to choose his own aides. The time for this dinner was designated as 12 o'clock October 7 at the Union township high school, as the institute will be in session there at that time.

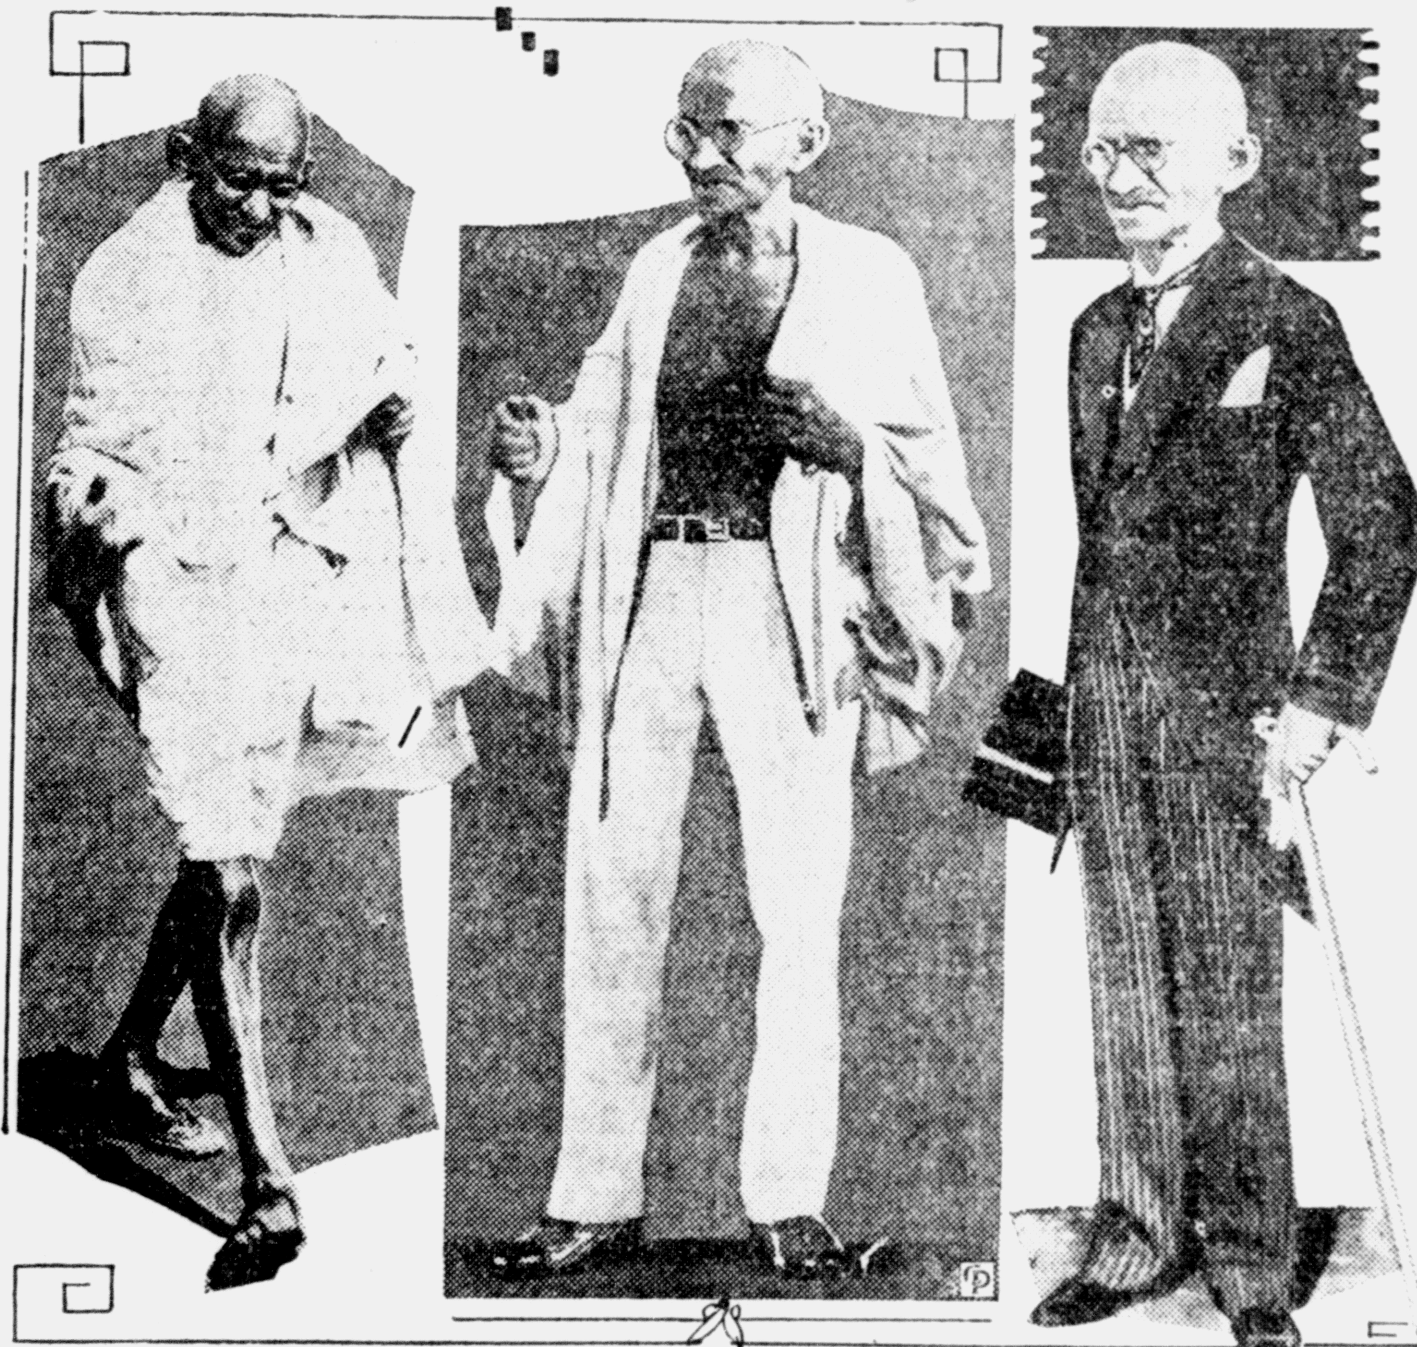

The following committee was appointed to perfect plans for the literary contests: C. B. Book, chairman; Robert J. Vaughan, P. F. Foltz. It was arranged to have contests in readings, essays, orations and extemporaneous speaking.

As a new feature it was decided that the high school principals prepare an examination for the county schools. Previous to this time standard tests were used, and were furnished by the county superintendent.

After a helpful discussion of varied subjects, the meetings adjourned. We suppose if a holiday or a week end passed without the death of a few motorists that would properly be regarded as news.—The Milwaukee Sentinel.

Highway Patrolman Suffers Injuries

(International News Service) SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 17.—State Highway Patrolman E. H. Stine of the Elmhurst sub-station, is getting away of riding his "steed" these days. On patrol on the Drinker turnpike here, Stine was hurled from his machine and suffered severe bruises when a large German shepherd dog leaped into his path, upsetting the cycle. The dog limped away, apparently unhurt.

A few days previous, Stine escaped with slight burns when his vehicle caught fire near Stroudsburg.

$7,500,000 FOR BRIDGES

(International News Service) QUEBEC CITY, Can.—An expenditure of $7,500,000 is to be made by the Quebec government on new bridges in different parts of the province, in order to facilitate the lines of communication. A bridge connecting the north shore of the St. Lawrence with the Island of Orleans, and the Caughnawaga bridge across the St. Lawrence, adjacent to Lachine near Montreal, are the two structures of chief importance to be erected. Each of these bridges, it is estimated, will involve an expenditure of well over $2,000,000.

EDUCATORS' SCHOOL

(International News Service) NEW HAVEN, Conn.—The effective summer school for educators will be limited in number of students and in that way much more beneficial for those who attend, according to Prof. Clyde M. Hill, chairman of the Yale department of education, who recently closed the first of a three-year experiment here. Eighty per cent of the group who attended the summer school for educators this year have signed for next summer.

The chief difference between character and reputation is that character doesn't peter out when you stop advertising.

The competitive exhibits will include grain, fruit, vegetables, flowers, baked goods, canned goods and fancy work. Schools of the community will also have exhibits of the handicraft of the pupils. Another interesting feature of the show will be a large exhibit of antiques. Herbert Leslie is general chairman of the committee in charge and he is assisted by C. T. Douthett. Sub-committee chairman include: grain, exhibit—C. S. Duff; fruit—R. A. Nagel; vegetables—James Beatty; flowers—Mrs. Doak, Baked Goods—Mrs. Willard Foster, canned goods—Mrs. J. H. Wilson; fancy work—Mrs. Esther Kerr; antiques—Mrs. Elizabeth McGeorge; publicity, B. Howson. Any person planning to make an exhibit is expected to get in touch with the chairman of the division in which they plan to make entries. All exhibits are to be in place early in the afternoon so that judging of the exhibits can be started at 5:00 o'clock.

All entries and entrance to the show will be free to everyone. Lunch will be served for those who plan to attend in the afternoon and remain for the evening.

Farmer Is Claiming Melon Championship

THANK YOU...

It is a physical impossibility for me to thank every Republican voter in Lawrence County for the honor conferred upon me in the primary election Tuesday. Hence I am taking the next best method of expressing to you the deep feeling of appreciation I have, for the nomination for County Commissioner.

As a candidate I promised that if nominated and elected I would help conduct the commissioner's office in a business manner. That I would aid in spending the county money as though it were my own.

Every pledge I made during the campaign, I now reiterate, this time as the Republican nominee. To the very utmost of my ability I pledge myself to such an administration that will reflect credit upon those men and women who believed in me sufficiently to aid me in securing the nomination.

This expression of appreciation is one of words. If elected in November I expect to demonstrate that appreciation in a more tangible manner.

Elmer Conner

THANKS!

I wish to thank my many friends throughout the county for the splendid support accorded me at the primaries. I assure you that the confidence you have placed in me is deeply appreciated.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Walker At Warren
For Church Meet

W. J. Walker, North Lafayette street, delegate of the Laymen's association of the Mahoning Methodist church to the Erie conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, has left the ward to attend the sessions. The meeting is taking place this week at Warren, Pa.

The Rev. D. D. Sleppy, pastor of the church, whose association ends at Warren, is also in attendance.

PAYS VISIT HERE

Harold Unangst of Coshocton, Pa., is spending a few days in the ward.

RETURNS TO PITT

Harold Guy, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Guy, Liberty street, has returned to Pittsburgh to resume his studies at the University of Pittsburgh.

WAS BRIEF VISITOR

Thomas Solomon, Liberty street, was in Pittsburgh for a short visit last night.

GO TO EDENBURG

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Prater and Miss Dorothy Spicer, well known residents of the ward, visited Edenburg friends on Tuesday night.

ENROUTE TO WEST

Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Richardson, local residents, left the ward's B. & O. station Wednesday for a trip to Wilmar, near Los Angeles, Cal. They expect to remain in the western city for some time.

REPAIR MAIN TRACKS

Workmen of the B. & O. railroad were located in the vicinity of the company's ward station on Wednesday, making repairs and necessary improvements to the right-of-way.

CARD PARTY

A card party will be held in the Lyceum Hall corner of Second and Clayton streets this Thursday evening. Games begin promptly at 8:30.

Observations
In 7th Ward

One ward lady, in making an exit from an election poll on Tuesday, remarked that if the women had been smarter they would have given the candidates who visited them an opportunity to help them in their canning work. "They came around often, and we'd had the job finished by now if we'd done it," she said.

And you should see the heap of jars filled with tasty fruit, now stored in the Mahoning school for use during the winter. The teachers deserve a treat for their role as credit and the fruit donors deserve credit as generous givers.

Though it isn't so very large, you'd be surprised how many readers depend upon the Mahoning branch of the city's library, Wabash avenue. From 12:30 p. m. to 9 in the evening you'll find ward residents entering and leaving the spic and span library.

ANNOUNCE DONATIONS

Huge quantities of peaches, apples, plums and other farm provisions have been donated to the Mahoning school building for the use of teachers who have volunteered their services in the canning work. Pupils and residents of the ward have contributed liberally.

The school, however, has received quantities of fruit and other things from the farm of B. J. Benson at Mt. Jackson and from the Short's farm near Slippery Rock. Miss Con-sulin Short, teacher in the school is the daughter of the owner of the farm. Other fruit came from the farm of J. P. Gormley.

Several evenings this week are being devoted by the instructors to the work.

Jars for the canning have been received through Hartzell Huston at reduced rates.

That roller towels rolled out of popularity with the roller pianos.

Her Secret Out

It has just been revealed that Mary Elizabeth Eppling, of Boston (above), has been married to George Huntington Hartford, $200,000,000 grocery heir, of Newport, R. I., for the past six months. Hartford recently broke into the news when Mildred King, of Boston, sued his mother, Mrs. Henrietta Hartford, for $100,000. Miss King asserted that she was employed by the mother to save young Hartford from undesirable women.

City And Borough Heads Will Meet With Industrial Leaders On Situation

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Mayors, burgesses township presidents, labor and industrial leaders of all Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Northern West Virginia communities have been invited to attend the Pittsburgh Public Coal Conference to be held September 21 under the auspices of the Allied Boards of Trade.

At the conference, the "Wheeling plan" for the solution of the ills of the bituminous coal industry will be presented and discussed. The plan, based on the introduction of Federal control, was recently promulgated by several West Virginia industrial leaders, who believe it offers a permanent plan for the alleviation of the ailing industry.

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, will be the principal speaker at the conference. Dr. Baker was instrumental in arranging for the annual conference on coal held by the Carnegie Institute each year in Pittsburgh.

Desertion Charges In Divorce Cases

Only Five Applicants Have Cases Ready For Hearing At Court Today

Only five cases came up for hearings at divorce court held by Judges Hildebrand and Chambers this morning. This is the smallest number to be brought before court since the present system of hearing testimony was inaugurated. It is believed that the financial depression has something to do with the small number of divorce cases. Many of those who are wanting divorces have been unable to raise the necessary money to put their cases through court.

Three of the cases were heard by Judge Chambers this morning and two by Judge Hildebrand. In all five cases the applications had been made on the grounds of desertion. The cases heard by Judge Chambers were as follows: Margaret C. Aiken against Clyde P. Aiken; Antonio Manzo against Maria Cucci Manzo and Alma L. Davids against George F. Davids.

The cases heard by Judge Hildebrand: Mary L. Farrell against Charles N. Farrell, and Julia Rose Jacobs against Thomas Jacobs.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels, gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle, agreeable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Grand Jury Makes Additional Returns

True Bills Are Found Against Dominick And Harry Pagley In Arson Case

True bills on two charges, one of conspiracy and another of arson were found by the Lawrence county grand jury this morning against Dominick Pagley and Harry Pagley.

The case grows out of a fire at a house owned by Dominick Pagley, the house being located on Highland avenue extension. Tony Spagnola of New Brighton lost his life in the fire.

When the fire department responded to a call they found that the interior of the house had been saturated with gum cement, a highly inflammable material. There had also been a smothering iron connected with an electric light socket, the evident intention being to use electric light in starting the fire. It appeared that the fire had in some way been started before Spagnola could get out of the house. He was found, slumped on a sofa in a front room of the house. Indications were that he had run from the kitchen to the front room after an explosion.

The fire was put out by neighbors with a garden hose.

Other returns made by the grand jury were as follows:

Hattie Smock, adultery, not a true bill and county pay costs.

Harvey Miller, fornication, not a true bill and county pay costs.

Jack Conway, larceny of motor vehicle, a true bill.

Ernesto De Caro, adultery, a true bill.

William King, larceny of a motor vehicle, a true bill.

Peter Ross, felonious assault and battery, not a true bill on first count. True bill on second, third and fourth counts.

New District Engineer Takes Over His Duties

Major Wilhelm Delp Styer Becomes U. S. District Engineer At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Major Wilhelm Delp Styer who today assumed the post of United States district engineer with headquarters in this city, replacing Col. Jarvis J. Bain who has been transferred, has seen service under the colors in foreign countries and has been connected with many engineering projects since his entrance to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1912.

Major Styer was graduated from the academy in 1916 and was assigned to the engineers corps at once. During the troublous border troubles of 1916-1917, Major Styer served with the Punitive expedition headed by General John J. Pershing which attempted to end the depredations of Pancho Villa, Mexican guerrilla chieftain.

When the United States entered the World war in 1917, Major Styer was sent with the American expeditionary forces to the front and served in France during part of 1917 and 1918. On his return, he served in the training section of the chief of engineers' office at Washington, saw military service at Fort Humphreys, Va., from 1919 to 1920 and was graduated with the degree S. B. C. E. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1922.

Since that time, Major Styer has served as executive officer of the first New York engineer district, as district engineer for the first New York district and as an engineer with the American Battle Monuments commission which constructed war memorials in Europe.

Commission Of Collector Cut By School Board

Expect To Effect A Saving Of Approximately $4,000 Next Year

CUT PERCENTAGE ON DELINQUENT TAX

Following a report from the committee appointed to investigate the amount of commissions paid the tax collector, the school board concurred in the action recently taken by council, reducing the commission on delinquent taxes from five per cent to two and one-half per cent. This will not affect this year's taxes, but will be applicable to next year's collections.

It is expected that a saving of approximately $4,000 per year will be effected by this move. This action will remain in effect until further action of the board.

A schedule was submitted showing the amounts paid the tax collector during his present tenure of office for collecting the taxes of the school district, which amounted to $47,657.21.

The major portion of this was received through the collection of taxes which had become delinquent, and upon which a penalty was added.

The amount for the collection of tax before the penalty added was not decreased, but will remain the same as heretofore, namely, one-half of one percent.

The amounts paid the collector for collecting school taxes the past four years, follows:

GARDNER

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Conner spent a few days with friends at Gardner, and returned to the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Wimer, of New Castle, on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bookings moved recently to Bessemer from the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Zehner, of the New Castle-Ellwood road. Mrs. Isabel Zehner Infield, and little daughter of Akron, spent a few days recently with Mrs. Infield's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Kanebauer and baby of Herman visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Love, of Savannah last Sunday.

Mrs. T. W. Dickson, of Gardner had the misfortune to fall down the steps at the back porch of her home and while no bones were broken she was badly bruised and her right arm is very badly sprained, and will have to rest in a sling for some time to come. Mrs. Dickson has such skillful hands and such an active disposition that this enforced idleness is a heavy cross.

Philip Moore of Gardner came home from Alliquippa on Friday and was quite ill on Saturday but went to work on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland and two sons, Alexander, and Donald of Alliquippa visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kirkwood and Mrs. Wimer, of Gardner, on Sunday.

Last Saturday evening Mrs. Alfred H. Thompson of Gardner gave a six o'clock dinner in honor of her husband's 71st birthday. There was an abundant supply of substantial and a fine birthday cake with ice cream made a tempting dessert. It was a very pleasant company who brought smiles, and good wishes, and some nice gifts, all of which are greatly appreciated by Mr. Thompson. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Reno of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, and children, James, William, Thelma, Agnes, and Barbara. Donnie Truby, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Reno, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Zevens, and children Mary, Charlie, and Alfred, Miss Emma Cahill, Mrs. Thompson, the hostess, and the honor guest, who will long cherish this token of kindness from his family and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark R. McCombs, of the Covert road remembered the birthday of their son William. The only guest was Miss Isabel Hazen, of Ellwood City. The engagement of these young people was announced a few weeks ago. Quite recently Mrs. McCombs was invited to address the McGuffey Club, at Ravenna, Ohio, on details of the life and history of William McGuffey, author of the text books which bear his name. Mr. and Mrs. McCombs, and their son William, Mrs. McCombs's sister and husband, Mr. Jackson, and Miss Offutt, of Mt. Castle, motored to Ravenna and spent a delightful evening where every courtesy was shown them and the members of the club were enthusiastic in their reception of the three ladies who are all descendants of Jane McGuffey Young who was a sister of the distinguished author.

Mrs. Carl Johnson, and her sister, Miss Selma Benson, and Mrs. Norman Walker, will entertain the Gardner Community Circle on Friday night, September 18.

Time Clock Crowing Governed By Whistle

KINGSTON, N. C., Sept. 17.—A hen owned by William R. Brinkley master of the local fox hunt club laid a freak egg. Ridges on one side formed the rough likeness of a clock dial.

The hen was broody. Brinkley allowed her to keep the egg. The egg was hatched and produced a chick. The chick became a cockerel.

A few days ago the young rooster started crowing. Brinkley noted that it crowed at 6 a. m., noon and 6 p. m.—on the dot. He was astounded. It maintained the schedule day after day.

Neighbors were informed. They kept tabs on the bird and verified Brinkley's claim that it "kept time." Then Brinkley made a disappointing discovery. The cockerel crowed only when incited by a mill whistle in the neighborhood and the whistle sounded at 6 a. m., noon and 6 p. m.

Well, Well, Uncle Sam Has Ousted Hoover!

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 17.—Uncle Sam is president of the United States, an alien who took an examination for citizenship papers here said.

"Uncle Sam has been president of the United States for 13 years and wears clothes of red, white and blue with stars and stripes," the answer read.

Another applicant, when asked to define the constitution, wrote: "The constitution is when the United States went into business."

Stubborn Mule Gives Mountain Lake Name

RED LODGE, Mont., Sept. 17.—A long-eared mule, weary from carrying 20 gallon cans of fish up a steep mountain trail, has a Montana lake named for it.

The mule, one of a string of 20 used by the United States forest service to carry live trout to a cluster of lakes in the Clear Forks region, sank to its haunches at the water's edge of an unnamed lake.

The forest rangers, after attempting to rouse the animal from its sitting position, gave up in disgust and decided to dub the pool Mule Lake.

Two other heretofore unnamed and unfinished lakes in that region also were named with the planting of the fish in their depths. Chubb lake was named for Stanford Weaver, well known wrangler in this region, who assisted the rangers plant the trout, and Granite lake drew its name from its rugged surroundings.

Three Teachers Resign Positions

Resignations Are Accepted At Meeting Last Evening, Two Elected

Resignations of three local teachers were presented to the school board at their meeting last evening, and were accepted.

Those who resigned were Miss Sarah Cohen, who has been a teacher in the Pollock school; Miss Elizabeth Mendenhall, who has been a teacher in the Ben Franklin junior high school; and Miss Margaret Toepfer, who has been a teacher in the Senior high school.

Miss Cohen is to be married. Miss Mendenhall resigned to accept another position elsewhere, while Miss Toepfer will enter law school.

The board elected two teachers to fill the vacancies. Miss Sylvia Lee Martin of 326 Park avenue being named to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Miss Cohen. She is a graduate of the local high school and Slippery Rock S. T. college. Miss Jeanetta Glass of Macdonald, Pa., was named to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Miss Mendenhall, who has been librarian at the Franklin junior high.

It was explained that there were no local applicants for Miss Mendenhall's position, who were qualified to fill the position.

Navajo Girls Assume Dance Hostess Roles

WINSLOW, Ariz., Sept. 17.—Assuming that the tactics of a night club hostess, or of a dance hall percentage girl belong to modern life is all wrong. Navajo squaws of Arizona have been doing that sort of "gold digging" for hundreds of years.

The percentage girl of the Navajo people has her innings at Squaw Dances, which are frequently held by the 38,000 Navajos who live on the 14,000,000 acre Navajo reservation.

Men chapters furnish the music accompanied by an Indian drum. Unmarried girls size up single men in attendance and go after those of their liking, and a man, refusing to dance, must pay the girl. He also must pay—either in money or trinkets valued from 25 to 50 cents—when he stops dancing.

The Squaw Dance also is a sort of marriage mart. Many of the girls find their life mates there just as sometimes happens at modern white men's dances.

McGovern Holds Slight Edge In Pittsburgh Vote

Senator William J. Mansfield Is Sure Winner—

5,000 LEAD IS BELIEVED ENOUGH

Race For County Commissioner Posts In Allegheny County Hot-test In Years

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Followers of Joseph G. Armstrong, veteran political campaigner, and the Republican organization today steadfastly refused to concede even a slight edge of victory to Charles C. McGovern, the militant independent campaigner, who on the face of unofficial returns has been swept into second place in the race for the Republican nomination for county commissioner.

With all but 42 widely scattered precincts tabulated, Armstrong was trailing McGovern by nearly 5,000 votes. Even the expected Armstrong vote in "controlled" wards was cut beyond usual by the "independent" votes turned in. Armstrong's spokesman claimed that when the official returns are released by the county elections board, Armstrong will be in second place behind Senator William D. Mansfield.

With 890 districts reported, the tabulation stood:
Mansfield, 169,442.
McGovern, 133,762.
Armstrong, 128,861.
Coyne, 126,823.

Coyne Supporters Silent
Followers of State Senator James J. Coyne were silent while critics declared Coyne ran "true to form." Pre-election predictions stated that the Senator would roll up a huge majority in the city but that this figure would be cut down by the tabulations from the out-of-the-city districts near the borders of the county.

James E. Routley, assistant chief clerk in the county commissioner's office, and Gilbert C. Cloonan, head of the county elections bureau, were firm in their prediction today that the official tabulation would move Armstrong up to second place.

Plant On Exhibition Last Night At Home Of Mr. And Mrs. Lewis Hogue, Morton Street

Two perfectly formed specimens of the Night Blooming Cereus created considerable furore in Morton street district last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hogue, this being the third time the Cereus has bloomed, and another bloom will be open tonight making four times this summer.

The two blooms started to open at 7 o'clock in the evening. The first opening revealed just the star and by 9 o'clock they were open in full. These blooms, seven inches in diameter, is a sacred flower, and is to represent the "Christ Child in the Manger."

In all its beauty and purity with its graceful long stems with white waxy feather like shaped petals in cup form. The center is like looking into tunnel and there is a manger with hundreds of yellow tinted antennae inside, to represent the straw with the white star in all its beauty at the entrance of the manger.

Looking at the inside of the flowers through a magnifying glass presented an unusual sight and scores of guests were present during the evening to examine this unique and wonderful flower.

The plant has been blooming for eight years, twice a summer.

Only One Gold Mine In State

Only Gold Mine In State Is Located Near Haneyville, Pa., Is Leased To Man

(International News Service)
LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Sept. 17.—What is believed to be Pennsylvania's only gold mine is now in operation near Haneyville, northwest of here.

The gold mine is located on a tract of forest land owned by William Jacoby, and gold bearing quartz has been discovered in several parts of the tract. The mine has been leased to J. B. Asper, rural mail carrier of Haneyville. Initial assays of the quartz, Asper said, showed the ore running $42.91 to the ton. Asper will continue working the mine on a small scale, he says, and has hopes of some day making "a rich strike" on the tract.

Urge Citizens To Aid Canning Project Here

Need Fruit, Vegetables, And
Cans For Community
Canning Next Week

MANY VOLUNTEER
TO AID WITH WORK

Arrangements Made To Gather And Store Foodstuffs Donated

Whether the citizens have been too interested in the election to bother about a Community Canning project or not, those in charge do not know, but so far, apparently little interest has been shown in the project by the citizens of Lawrence County.

Only a few people have offered fruits and vegetables to be canned so far, and there will be a great need for these articles when the project gets under way next week.

Those who have not already given the matter their attention are asked to do so at once, and to clip the coupon published daily in The News, or to call the Associated Charities office, Phone 5084, listing their donation with them.

There is a great need for canning utensils and for foodstuffs to be canned. There have been some responses to date, but not nearly as many as there should be.

J. K. McQuiddy of the Building Trades Council stated this morning that arrangements have been completed for the use of the Martin Gantz school building for the storage of the fruits and vegetables to be gathered in, and a force of 100 men is available to pick fruit, etc. There are also trucks available for the task of hauling these articles, and all that is necessary is to have enough donated to make it worth while.

Need Is Great

Quite a few people who are not in touch with the situation do not realize how serious it is. There is going to be a tremendous demand for assistance this winter, particularly for food and clothing. If those who are unemployed are given the opportunity to help in this project, they will earn a portion of what is needed by them this winter.

Quite a number of New Castle women have volunteered their services at the two school buildings to assist with the canning work. Then in addition, those who have been given assistance with gardens and those needing help are registering to aid with the big canning project. These women will register this afternoon, and Thursday and Friday afternoons from 1 to 4 o'clock at the Associated Charities rooms.

Some foods are being canned at the Fair this week, in a canning demonstration, and the foodstuffs canned will be stored away for next winter.

Strangely enough, the tomatoes which were offered for canning in this demonstration were contributed by men who had gardens in the unemployed garden project which was inaugurated this spring. They were Frank Kerr of 201 Elm street, John Bruce and Ed. Mosely of Pearson street, and Shad Knight of John street. Mr. Kerr had a garden in the Rose avenue plot, Bruce and Mosely at the Walnut plot, while Knight had a garden on Butler avenue.

This project is one of the most worthwhile ones which has been inaugurated here in some time, and the citizens are asked to get behind the movement with their money, time, jars for canning, or foodstuffs.

1931 Wonder Year for McPhersons, Entire Family Bowd to Cupid

Aimee Semple McPherson's Marriage, Following Those of Her Two Children and Her Mother, Is Fourth in Famous Evangelist's Family in Less Than Twelve Months.

MA KENNEDY and REV R. G. HUDSON • MR. and MRS. DAVID C. HUTTON • MR. and MRS. ROLF McPHERSON
The marriage of the famous apostle of Angelus Temple, Aimee Semple McPherson, to her 250-pound voice instructor, David Hutton, whom she had chosen for the role of Pharaoh in her latest religious opera, is the fourth wedding in the noted evangelical family in 1931. The epidemic of marriages began last March with the wedding at Singapore of Roberta, Aimee's daughter, to the 23-year-old purser of the liner President Wilson, on which the McPhersons made a world tour. Next came the "surprise marriage" of Aimee's mother, Mrs. Minnie McPherson, to the Rev. R. G. Hudson, of New York. The 60-year-old bride and her 50-year-old groom were wed at Lake Sacajawea, Washington. The third member of the family to succumb to the arrow of Cupid was Rolf, Aimee's son by her second marriage. The young scion of the McPhersons married Lorna Dee Smith, a graduate of Angelus Temple Bible School, in July, after several months' engagement. This marriage is Aimee's third venture into matrimony. Her first husband, Robert Semple, died in China, whence he had gone with his young wife to convert the heathen. The second spouse, Harold McPherson, of Providence, R. I., divorced the evangelist after she had refused to give up her preaching and bestow a little of her time on him.

It is understood that improvements will be made to the plant and system as soon as it is taken over by the borough.

PINCHOT WILL
OF LEGISLATURE

unemployment relief and nothing else. "This," the Governor declared, "is no time to complicate urgently needed legislation for unemployment relief by the long struggle which would be brought upon us by the inclusion of the public utility issue, important and necessary as consideration of it unquestionably is. Let it be understood, however, that I will see to it that the public utility issue is raised in every district in Pennsylvania at the primary election of 1932 as well as in the general election which follows it."

Before End Of Year
Before the end of the year, Gov.

Pinchot said, at a date to be fixed later by proclamation, he will summon the legislature into extraordinary session to consider measures for relief of unemployment, and for no other purpose.

The Governor, he declared, will recommend to the Assembly that it authorize issuance of long term bonds, principal and interest to be guaranteed, contingent upon adoption of a constitutional amendment permitting direct appropriation for unemployment relief. The bonds would be termed "prosperity bonds" the executive said.

Gov. Pinchot pointed out that under the present state constitution, no direct appropriation can be made for the purpose he had in mind and that the constitution cannot be amended in time to meet the emergency facing the state.

To Lose No Time

Article 18, Section 1 of the present constitution provides that amendments to the constitution can be made only after a resolution proposing an amendment has been passed at two sessions of the General Assembly and approved by the voters at an election.

"In order to lose no time," the Governor said, "I shall cause to be introduced in the extraordinary session and in the regular session to follow it a constitutional amendment to permit issuance of the long-term guaranteed bonds. If it passes these two sessions it will come before the people for final action in 1933."

"This plan for prosperity bonds and other plans which the state administration has in mind will be prepared in the form of specific bills, ready for submission to the legislature on the day it meets and in such form that it should be easily possible for the General Assembly to dispose of them and adjourn within four weeks."

The Governor at the special session, will also provide for a constitutional amendment to Article 9, Section 4 of the present constitution which limits debts created by the state to supply deficiencies in revenue to aggregate of one million dollars.

The Governor, in announcing his revised plan for an extra session, took occasion to hit out at the policies of the Hoover administration regarding unemployment relief.

"I have asked for Federal relief for unemployment," he said, "and I have urged upon the National Administration the calling of an extra session of congress to provide that relief in time. My demand has apparently gone unheeded. Nevertheless I maintain as firmly as ever that Federal aid is indispensable to meet the need in full."

"But whether or not the Federal government carries its proper share of the burden of relief the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, every county in the Commonwealth, every community in every county and all individuals able to give must, as I have constantly declared, bear their full and fair quota of the load. This extra session would have been called regardless of any action or failure to act on the part of the Federal Government."

Discuss Validity of Bonds
Harrisburg, Sept. 17.—Validity of "prosperity bonds" proposed to be authorized in a special session of the legislature to be called this year by Governor Gifford Pinchot, cannot be determined until after the general election of 1933, constitutional experts here pointed out today in the wake of the governor's announcement that he will summon an extra session to deal with unemployment relief alone.

A resolution for amendment to the constitution removing restrictions existing on charitable and benevolent appropriations and on aggregate state debts, if approved in the special session, must meet also with approval of the regular session in 1933 and must then be approved in a general referendum, it was shown.

Until electors approve the issue the bonds would not be valid.

See Delay

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17.—Leading bankers and financiers in the Pittsburgh district interviewed by International News Service today were agreed that under present provisions of the state constitution there is little possibility that Governor Gifford Pinchot's proposed "prosperity bonds" can be issued before 1933.

The necessary amendment to make the issuing of bonds legal must be passed by the special session to be called before the end of the year, then by the following regular session, and then submitted to the people of the commonwealth in a state-wide referendum.

Officials of some of the city's largest banks said that the state would experience little trouble in disposing of the "prosperity" bond issue provided the issue had been legally authorized.

Under the present plans of Governor Pinchot, the proposed long term bonds would be contingent upon the passing of an amendment permitting direct appropriation for unemployment relief, such appropriations now not being provided in the constitution. Then the amendment would follow the regular routine which it is believed would require at least two years.

It was pointed out here by financial leaders that Pennsylvania has been continually hampered during the present period of stagnation by the state's inability to effect convenient borrowing of funds for relief through bond issues. One prominent banker pointed out that the federal government is in an easier position to advance money for relief and that negotiations might be undertaken by which the funds could be secured from Washington without the delay occasioned by a constitutional amendment.

Use Of Bottles For Canning Is Law Violation

Because of the shortage of mason jars this summer, some house wives are using milk bottles for canning preserves. The use of them is reflected in the return of empty bottles to the various milk dealers. Such use of milk bottles is contrary to the state law. Any person using a milk bottle with the leaders name blown in it, or the name of the company, is violating the law and is liable to prosecution. Milk must be sold in bottles containing the name of the dealer and the bottles are the property of the dealer. No one can use them for any other purpose without violating the law.

I promise to give to the assistance of the Community Canning Committee the undersigned articles: food, sugar, cans or money.

Mayor W. H. Gillespie Finds
That Frequent Appearance
Needs Punishment

James Rogan appeared once too often before his honor Mayor W. H. Gillespie on a charge of drunkenness, he found this morning, and as a result is spending the next 30 days in the county jail as the guest of the city and county.

It seems that it was the third consecutive appearance of Rogan this week in addition to numerous previous visits. The mayor was inclined to dislike his constant appearance.

Rogan put up the plea that if allowed to go this time, that he would go away for a year.

"That's the same thing you told me yesterday. Do you want me to let you off seventy and seven times No. You will go to the county jail this time," said the mayor.

The sentence was $25 fine or thirty days in the county jail. Rogan could not pay and is now in the county jail for a month.

Picnic To Feature Good Bean Soup In Great Big Quantity

International News Service

LEWISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 17—

Hundreds of persons will assemble at Cold Springs Grove, near here, September 18 and 19, and the main attraction will be bean soup. That's right, just plain bean soup.

But it will be bean soup made from a recipe in use since the Civil War and tried and proven year after year at the annual bean soup homecoming celebration.

A two-day entertainment program has been arranged for the occasion with band concerts, ball games, free acts and a tennis tournament on the program.

Last year more than 1,200 pounds of beans, 1,500 pounds of beef and 1,200 pounds of crackers were used in satisfying the crowd which met for the annual affair.

Mounting the cavalry on tanks should please the troopers. They won't be suspicious of their beef when a tank is missing.

If we aren't real careful there are going to be a lot of hole-in-the-wall emitts in congress during the coming winter.

GUNMEN FLEE
IN BIG AUTO

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Sept. 17.—Arrest of every hoodlum in Detroit was ordered today following the massacre of three alleged "hijackers" after they had been herded into a fashionable south side apartment house here. Those killed in the massacre were Joseph Sutker, Hymie Paul and Joseph Leibovitz, all known police characters.
The men were kidnaped in their own car which had been stopped by a traffic light and herded into the apartment. There they were lined against a wall and felled with a fusillade of revolver shots.
Meanwhile, a high-powered car waited outside. The driver raced the motor and sounded the horn frequently. The 12 revolver reports sounded like the backfire of the automobile. The killers calmly walked from the apartment, climbed into the car and sped away.

Historic Boston Plans Year's Celebration For Washington

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Sept. 17.—This city, long one of the pillars of the foundation of the United States, overbrimming with historic tradition and the scene of many an historic event, is planning to play a significant part in the nation-wide program for the George Washington Bicentennial celebration in 1932. An impressive program is now underway.

Committees have been appointed to supervise the celebration of practically every point of interest, of every holiday, throughout the year of 1932, with added events, parades, miniature reproductions of battles, Paul Revere's ride, marking of sites, exhibits reminiscent of Revolutionary days, and other features.

An executive Bicentennial Committee has been authorized by Mayor Curley. Several of its members were actively associated in the arrangement of the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary celebration of 1930. Preparations for the gala program will be conducted with the cooperation of the City Bureau of Public Celebrations, and the Citizens' Public Celebration Association.

A special feature which the Boston committee proposes, and which involves many outside communities, in addition to parades, parades, and historic features of the holidays, is to reproduce one of the journeys that George Washington made through New England. They would through one of the trips made by Washington as citizen, general or president on the way from New York through Connecticut, Springfield, Worcester, to Boston and then by way of Salem and Newburyport through New Hampshire and into Maine. The committee has three choices for the proposed historical pageantry procession—In October when Washington made a good will tour of New England as president in 1789, in July when he came to take command of the army at Cambridge in 1775, or in February when he came as a young man of 23 years to seek adjustment of his military status in 1756.

Undoubtedly the reason for such an immense program in honor of the Father of the Nation is because there is hardly another city in America so rich in historical features as this old city. In Boston much of the early development of the history of the nation occurred. Many important men who were instrumental in the setting up of the Revolution and the government and close personal and official friends of Washington lived here.

In the tentative program is listed a joint program of national significance in cooperation with the City of Cambridge, a reproduction of the taking of command by Washington of the Continental Army; the proposed reconstruction of revolutionary fortifications; honors to individuals who assisted in bringing about American independence—John Adams, John Hancock, Artemas Ward, Daniel Webster, and others; general participation of historic and patriotic societies, schools, colleges, churches; the showing of motion picture films featuring the Siege of Boston; a Colonial Ball and radio broadcasts of other events.

If the plans and proposals are fully carried out as outlined, it will mark one of the most elaborate celebrations ever conducted in New England.

Earrings Dating Back 2,500 Years Put In Museum

Ornaments Represent The Skill Of Ancient Jewel Makers

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Gold earrings which archaeologists believe were worn by ladies-in-waiting at Nebuchadnezzar's court 2,500 years ago are on display at Field Museum of Natural History.

Three pairs were found in the ruins of the ancient city of Kish, in a Babylonian grave dated as belonging to the period of Nebuchadnezzar who ruled over both Babylon and Kish.

The ornaments illustrate both the skill of the ancient jewellers and the trend of style which royal ladies followed.

One pair is formed of thin gold wire which penetrated the ear lobe. From the wire hangs a triangular pendant covered with small beads and terminating in a larger golden pearl.

Another piece is simpler, consisting of a wire gold loop for insertion through the ear lobe. From this hangs a large lunette golden ornament.

A third example of Babylonian craftsmanship is intricate. It is a large gold earring an inch and three-quarters long. From a gold wire loop attached to the ear lobe depends a lunette ornament decorated with three rows of tiny pearls. Below this is a fluted ball fastened to a plain collar decorated around the base with the small pearl motif. Beneath this is a larger fluted ornament from which hang two rows of six smaller round ornaments. At the base of each ball is a triangular ornament of six round beads in the shape of an inverted pyramid. The central lower portion of the earring consists of two larger beads placed one above the other and terminated by an inverted pyramid consisting of 10 small beads.

Auto Smashes Butte's Old Watering Trough

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 17.—One of the last remaining relics of the days when horses solved the world's transportation problem passed into oblivion here recently.

For 25 years a large water fountain at the intersection of two of the principal streets here quenched the thirst of man and beast, but an automobile, not content with replacing old Dobbin, smashed into the fountain and destroyed it.

It will not be missed a great deal, for its patronage during recent years has been limited to a few horses that hauled laundry and junk wagons around the town.

Lots Of Sun Aids Fight On Rickets

Now Is Time To Combat

This Disease, Says

Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

In order to prevent rickets we must begin to plan in the fall. Although the greatest prevalence of the disease is in the spring, it develops all through the winter, and can be prevented by proper attention to living conditions during that period.

Rickets is essentially a disturbance of the developmental functions of the body—especially the development of bone. It always begins under the age of two years.

A derangement of the proper utilization of calcium and phosphorus in the growing body occurs, resulting in lack of proper bone formation. Only infants that are growing are attacked, and there seems to be a disproportion between the actions of the growth vitamin D. So that while the bones grow there is not enough bony matter deposited in them to make them strong and hard. They lack, in short, calcium and phosphorus, which give stability to their structure.

The consequence is that the bones are soft and pliable and with active growth taking place they grow crooked and twisted. The first changes may be very slight—in the bones of the skull, perhaps, or the ribs at their juncture with the chest cartilages. The wrists and ankles may be swollen and painful. Severe deformities—extreme bow legs and other forms of crooked bones may occur.

Besides these signs there are indications of a general bodily distress—restlessness, irritability, sleeplessness, and especially head sweating. The abdomen is prominent and the general nutrition suffers.

Since the disease develops in the presence of a disproportion between the amount of vitamin A and D, the treatment consists in furnish extra amounts of D. This is done in the form of cod liver oil, sunshine or viosterol. When more vitamin D enters the body the bones immediately begin to become harder, there is a deposit of bony substance in the bone structures which were hitherto soft, and the whole condition improves.

Rickets is a preventable disease, and for that reason it is worth emphasizing. Lack of sunshine seems to diminish the vitamin D in the body, so begin now to give the body plenty of winter sunshine.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

History of street and home illumination in this community on a commercial basis apparently had its inception in 1856, when what has all the earmarks of being the first local effort to get away from the candle and the oil lamp, took place. On February 11, 1856, there was incorporated by Dr. Charles T. Whipple, Stephen J. Noble, Theodore F. Hay, Newell White and Ezekiel Sankey what was known as the New Castle Gaslight Company. The charter granted the concern gave it the right to supply the borough of New Castle with gas for illumination, purposes for the space of twenty years. The business houses on Washington street and the "Diamond" were first lighted on the evening of December 8, 1856 through the medium of the gas supplied by this concern. History does not tell much concerning this enterprise but the probabilities are that it proved a more or less successful enterprise of much of the period of time that it was chartered to furnish this community with the then modern medium of lighting.

Star Lore

HOW MUCH IS A PLANET TILT-ED AND FLATTENED

By Arthur DeV Carpenter
By watching the paths of the spots on a planet as they are carried around a planet in its rotation, the inclination (or tilting) of the planet's equator to the plane of the planet's orbit around the sun is found. Mars, Jupiter and Saturn are the only planets showing such spots. It is the inclination that produces compression of a planet created by planet's rotation is found by measuring the equatorial and the polar diameters, and comparing the two. The oblateness can also be computed from the perturbations (disturbances) of the satellites that rotate around the planet. Jupiter is the most oblate, it rotates so rapidly.

About the only thing that can't be built more cheaply now is a reputation.

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon Of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and more power. The Whirlwind Mfg. Co., Dept. 1294-S, Station C, Milwaukee, Wis., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make up to $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write them at once for free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

Latest McCormick Marriage Is 'Traditional' Surprise

Once the Pride of Belize

"Fifi" Stillman McCormick and her husband, Fowler.

Mathilde McCormick Oser and her husband, Max.

John D. Rockefeller.

Ganna Walska, left, Harold F. McCormick, from whom she is separated, and Edith Rockefeller McCormick, his first wife.

Muriel McCormick's sudden decision to wed Major Elisha Dyer Hubbard, of Middletown, Conn., is in keeping with the family matrimonial tradition of surprise weddings. Both her friends and Hubbard's were surprised to learn that Muriel, favorite granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, had decided to wed. Her mother, Edith Rockefeller McCormick, and her father, Harold F. Cor-mick, have been divorced for many years. He married Ganna Walska, the singer, and after a series of disagreements over her career, they were separated in 1928. Muriel's sister Mathilde, at the age of 16, startled her parents by announcing that she was going to marry her Swiss riding master, Max Oser. Despite objections and injunctions they were married in London. Fowler, Muriel's brother, is the youthful husband of Fifi Potter Stillman, twice divorced wife of James Stillman, New York banker. The latter marriage took place last June.

It is hard to realize that this pile of ruins was once a proud street in Belize, British Honduras. This is all that remained after the hurricane, that killed over 1,000 persons and left thousands homeless, had passed. Besides the murderous wind, a tidal wave also exacted a heavy toll and with the resultant devastation, hunger and disease stalk through the ruined city. Relief is being rushed to the stricken area by every means at the disposal of the United States.

How Hurricane Devastated Belize

After the hurricane which razed the major portion of the city of Belize, British Honduras, had passed, it left this scene of horror and devastation in its wake. Many people were buried alive in these ruins before they could get into the open. Now survivors are being rushed to the stricken area by every means at the disposal of the United States.

How the Hurricane Left Belize

Swept by a tropical hurricane and tidal wave, the city of Belize, British Honduras, was reduced to a heap of ruins of which the photo above gives an example. The disaster took a toll of over a thousand lives and rendered half the population homeless. Debris is being rushed to the stricken area by every means at the disposal of the United States.

FLIGHT—20 YEARS AGO AND TODAY

YOUTHFUL RIDERS PRACTICE FOR NATIONAL RODEO

Sept. 17, 1911, Rogers left New York, landed at Pasadena, Nov. 4, actual flying time, 94 hours 2 minutes.

DOOLITTLE'S TIME 11 hours 15 minutes.

As you recall the recent lightning-like dash of Jimmy Doolittle from Los Angeles to New York, in 11 hours and 15 minutes—a new record—consider, for a moment, the feat of another transcontinental flyer, Calbraith P. Rogers. On the 17th of September, just 20 years ago, he set out from New York, in his flying machine, to strike out boldly for California. Rogers arrived in Pasadena on Nov. 4, after actually being in the air 84 hours and two minutes. At that time his flight was heralded as nothing short of miraculous. Rogers and his crude airplane are at top, and Doolittle and his speedy ship, below. The planes are an interesting contrast.

More than 1,000 boys and girls are scheduled to participate in rodeo events at the national round-up of the Mounted Troops of America, at Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 19 and 20. Junior rodeo champions of the world will be determined at the meet and a brand of horsemanship is expected to be on tap which will make seasoned rodeo performers look to their laurels. This is the first national round-up, although several regional affairs have been held. Above are some of the contestants, upper left, Albert and G

R. White, ages 15 and 16, fancy rope spinners of Baxter Springs, Kas., right, Elbert Cavelt, 14, of Tulsa, who puts his pony through stunts, below, Mickey Allen, 18, of Miami, Okla., champion bull dogger of the youthful Mounted Troops.

End of Trans-Siberian Flight

Looking Down Long Way Up

Landing her plane at the completion of her perilous flight across the wilderness of Siberia, Fraulein Marga Von Etdorf, German aviatrix, is shown above being enthusiastically welcomed by Japanese at the Haneda Airport. This airport was recently built at a cost of half a million dollars and Fraulein Etdorf was the first foreign flier to land there, as well as gaining the distinction of being the first woman to fly across Siberia.

The tables have been turned on the highest structure in the world! Where the Empire State Building has been accustomed to looking down on the rest of New York, here you all get a chance to gaze downward on the dizzying high peak of the towering mass of steel and steel. This picture was made from a commercial blimp which nosed about the mooring mast atop the Empire State in an effort to effect a contact. High winds prevented it.

Brightest Boys See History

TO WED LILY DAMITA? 'NO CHANCE!'

Here are the smartest boys in the United States, winners of the National Intelligence Contest, sponsored by the Central Press Association and associated newspapers, pictured in St. Peter's Square at Rome, where they are adding to their extensive store of knowledge. The contest winners were awarded a six-weeks tour of Italy as a reward. Left to right they are: Benedict Goldman, Pawtucket, R. I.; the guide of the party, Woodfin Keesee, Helena, Ark.; Edward M. Pritchard, Jr., Paris, Ky.; David Englander, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Frank G. Hallett, Jr., Akron, O.; and Karl Snyder, Mellette, S. D.

"No chance," is the way Sidney Smith, New York broker, replied to the question of his reported engagement to Lily Damita, a vacuous screen star. They arrived on the same train at Los Angeles from the east. Miss Damita made Smith her spokesman.

Freshmen Are Being Feted At New Wilmington

Annual "Who's Who" To Take Place At College On Saturday Night

(Special To The News.)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 17.—Freshmen students at Westminster college are being feted this week at a number of receptions and parties. Tuesday night the freshmen were guests of the faculty at the Hillside dormitory where the professors had an opportunity of meeting the largest incoming class in the history of the college.

Thursday evening will see the freshmen guests of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. at a reception and social time in the gymnasium. Saturday evening the annual "Who's Who" will center attention on freshmen in an effort to make them acquainted with upper classesmen. The first-year students were initiated into some aspects of college with an assembly in chapel at 9 o'clock Tuesday and with matriculation and registration following. The real initiation will come Friday morning when classes start, assignments are made and textbooks are announced.

A RAPHAEL RESTORED.

(International News Service.)
DRESDEN—Visitors to the Dresden Picture Gallery will now find Raphael's great masterpiece, the "Sistine Madonna," freed from the slight grayish veil cast over it by time, and showing clearer outlines and more brilliant colors than for years. Professor Krause, the Dresden expert, and Professor Kinkelin, of the Munich Pinakothek, were called on to treat the picture. A layer of canvas which had been added to the back years ago was removed and the original canvas was treated with wax and resin. The blisters on the face were then made to adhere to the canvas, and the picture was cleaned. No colors were used, and the great painting is again today as it was when Raphael finished it more than 400 years ago.

DIVIDING ORIENTAL POPPIES

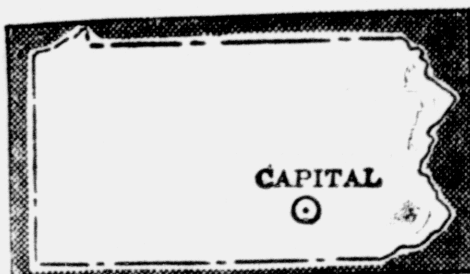

If you have not already done so, now is an excellent time to divide the roots of your Oriental poppies, to increase your supply of this flower, horticulturists of the Bureau of Plant Industry advise. Handle the poppy roots carefully to make sure of the best results. Oriental poppies are ready for division as soon as the leaves die and the plants become dormant. If your poppies are not yet dormant, here is a suggestion. Mark now the ones you plan to divide. If you do not do this there is a chance that the dead leaves may be raked away and you will be uncertain of the location of your poppies when you get ready to divide them.

There are two general methods of dividing the poppy roots. Sometimes the roots naturally develop several crowns each. In such cases it is easy to divide them, pulling the crowns apart and then slicing the root sections for each with a knife. Ordinarily, however, there is only one crown. Then the usual plan is to cut the root crosswise into several sections. Each of these sections will then become the source of another poppy plant.

In the northern part of the country, after the roots are divided they are often placed in sand in a cold frame and either left to grow there the next spring or else they are planted in the flower garden in the spring. They are not likely to make a heavy growth the first year and for that reason may be left in the cold frame until the following fall for the final transplanting.

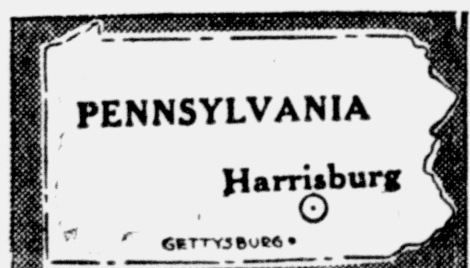

In the south the roots may be set out in the fall. They will make a slight growth the same season and be ready for very early growth the following spring.

A smile of RECOGNITION always greets this loaf!

WHEAT KING JUMBO looks the family loaf it is!

READ THIS!

CROSS-SECTION OF JUMBO! This shows the difference in shape between Jumbo and ordinary bread. Notice Jumbo's much greater baking area. That's why every loaf of Jumbo is so good—it's thoroughly baked all the way through.

Tastes even better because it's Hearth-flavored!

IT'S large—an unusually shaped loaf. Looks (and tastes) like the sturdy stone-oven-baked loaf of our forefathers.

There is an important baking reason for this shape. An oven bakes from the bottom, from the sides, from the top. Best bread must be baked all the way through.

Wheat King Jumbo—molded long, wide and low—is thoroughly baked from its crisp, tender, nut-brown top to the bottom of the loaf.

Wheat King Jumbo slices thin for dainty sandwiches, toasts an appetizing brown outside while keeping real bread flavor. It makes "just bread and butter" a delight—the bread is so flavorful!

See this good, farm-kitchen loaf at your grocer's. Then, take Wheat King Jumbo home to your family.

Ellwood City Delegation At Energy Revival

Large Crowd From Ellwood City Hears Williams Party

Last night Ellwood City was largely represented at the Williams Evangelistic campaign at Energy which is being held in a large tent by the Greenwood Methodist Episcopal church. The usual program of music was given by the Williams party consisting of "What Kind of Shoes You Are" on the trumpet by Prof. MacMurray, special numbers on the piano.

Mr. Booney of Ellwood City played "Rock of Ages" with variations on the piano as an offertory. Mrs. Williams introduced some new choruses which were sung enthusiastically by the audience. Rev. Aiken offered prayer. Pastor Maitland announced this to be the last week of the meeting and gave special invitation that all should attend this the greatest revival ever held at Energy. Many testimonies were given from those who had received special benefits in the meeting and especially those who testified to physical benefits.

Dr. Williams spoke on "The Plain Trail." He said when Bishop Whipple was missionary to the Indians they gave him the title of "old straight tongue" because of his plainness of speech, so tonight my one desire is to make the trail plain from earth to Heaven. These four texts of scripture will outline my message. "The soul that sinneth it shall die." "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." "Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures and what shall I do to be saved?" Tonight Dr. Williams will speak on "A Traveler's Reward."

Mrs. Williams will meet with the girls at 7 o'clock. Prof. MacMurray will meet with the boys. Marling Swart will meet with the children at the same time while Dr. Williams will give instruction to the sick in the church.

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 17.—Charles Follette, one of the victims of a cyclone crash on the Wurttemberg road last Friday was discharged from the local hospital Wednesday afternoon. Miss Thelma Gilchrist the other victim will remain in the hospital for several days yet. Her condition is much improved now and the wounds are healing.

The two traveling on a motor cycle in the direction of Wurttemberg were struck by a coupe car driven by Addison Honniff who made a left turn on a road leading to Burnstown. Both on the cycle were hurled quite a distance through the air and received some painful injuries. The girl's condition was the most serious having received, it is believed, a broken thigh. She is resting comfortably now. Painful cuts and bruises were received by both.

Rose Avenue Garden Club Exhibits Products Wednesday

Nature was most lavish this year in supplying the right amount of rain and sunshine to promote the gardens which were started last spring by the pupils of Rose Avenue school who joined the Nature Study Garden Club and this was most definitely demonstrated Wednesday afternoon when specimens from the gardens were brought to the school and exhibited in the gymnasium for the pupils, the parents and friends to view.

Each class had a table all its own and the teachers and pupils of the class, under the supervision of Miss Morfydd Owens, nature study teacher, assisted by Miss Verlee Armstrong.

There were flowers of every variety known and vegetables of every description, the pupils taking great pride in exhibiting what had been planted, tended and picked by their own small hands and every available space in the large gym was filled with baskets of flowers, bouquets of flowers and vegetables arranged on plates, displayed in baskets or the large ones just by themselves. Standing out among the exhibits was a quart box of strawberries, and they looked most luscious, these having been raised by George Cole of grade 4 A.

Another feature was the splendid exhibit made by a couple embryo farmers, Mike Dado and Mike Widelko of Grade 6B, Cascade street, who had worked a garden together during the summer and they had products that were some products; there was a corn carrot there that would make a good meal for any cow; there was a radish of immense proportions; there were beets, tomatoes, cucumbers and in fact most every vegetable grown, with a stock of red hot peppers that held nearly twenty full grown peppers.

Prizes Awarded
The tables contained 386 entries, which is the largest flower and vegetable show the school has ever had and of the tables arranged, the first award was given Grade 2A, Miss Mildred Smith, teacher. The table was a feast for the eye; the bouquets were arranged most artistically with the vegetables interspersed. Table 5A received the second award, Miss Genevieve Shugars, teacher.

The tables arranged by the other classes came in for their share of favorable comment, with 2B receiving ing honorable mention for the most entries.

The prizes awarded individuals for their exhibits included:

6 A—first, Marjory Lindsey, second, Mary Campbell, third, Mary Campbell.
6 B—garden, Mike Widelko, Mike Dado.
5 A—first prize, Eleanor Book, A B—second, Marjorie Harris.
5A-2—Garden prize, Pat Panella, second prize, Eugene Burford.
4 B—first prize, Grace Irwin; garden prize, George Cole.

3 A—first prize, Evelyn Park; second prize, Jean Kemp.
3B-2—third prize, Martha Riley.
3B-1—garden prize, Althea Moore.
2 B—garden prize, Billy McClelland; third prize, Kathryn Ringer.
1B-2—first prize, Eleanor Jean Trubby; second prize, Sylvia Hamm.
2 A—first prize, Sylvia Ludovici; second prize, Billy O'Loughlin.

After the show was over the little folks madly rushed around to gather up their exhibits and turn them over to the teachers, who were going to deliver the flowers to the hospitals and other shut-in sick folks, and the vegetables were donated to the needy.

Miss Iretta Dart, principal of the school, Miss Morfydd Owens, Nature Study teacher, Miss Verlee Armstrong, and the other teachers of the building are to be congratulated upon the success of the show, which was visited by many parents and friends during the afternoon. Further congratulations must be extended the small members of the Garden Club, through whose efforts the show was possible. Each little tot, as well as the older scholars, are planning on going into gardens more extensively next year.

British Navy Is Back To Normal

Sailors Appeased By New Offer Made By British Government To Aid Hardships

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 17.—The ships of the Atlantic Fleet of the British Navy, whose crews staged a Gandhi-like "passive resistance" strike against pay cuts, have now returned to their home ports from Invergordon, Scotland, it was announced by the Admiralty this afternoon.

The ships had been held for several days at Invergordon following the sailors' refusal to take them to the North Sea for scheduled maneuvers.

The Admiralty statement declared conditions had returned to "normal" aboard ship. Definite proposals designed to alleviate hardships said to have been caused by the pay cuts are expected to be made shortly.

'Under-Cover Man' Is Found Slain

Man Implicated In Expose Of National Bootleggers Syndicate, Found Murdered

BULLET RIDDLED BODY IN AUTO

(International News Service)
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 17.—The bullet riddled body of Harry Volpe, 45, was found today on the rear seat of a sedan type automobile which has been parked all night.

Volpe, police said, was "under-cover man" for the government in the expose of the so-called national bootleggers' and rum runners' syndicate at Cleveland shortly after the advent of prohibition. During the past few years, they said, he had been in the illicit liquor business in Rhode Island.

Whether his death was the carrying out of threats made on his life after the Ohio episode or was the result of a recent "war" among the bootleg gangs of Rhode Island was a question police attempted to determine.

APPRECIATION

After going through a primary campaign as strenuous as the one which came to a close Tuesday night, and being honored with the Republican nomination for county treasurer, there are many things I would like to say, but all of them would add up to Thank You.

There is little else I can say for after all there is no way I can ever repay the loyalty of my friends and workers except to say thank you, and then prove by honest service that their confidence has not been misplaced.

TRIED TO HALT KANE'S ARREST

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT

HAMPTON, Va., Sept. 17.—The parents of Mrs. Jenny Graham Kane did all in their power to prevent an investigation into the death of their daughter following arrest of her college professor husband Elisha Kent Kane on a charge of murder. This was revealed to International News Service today by the dead woman's sister, Mr. C. E. Webber of Salem, Va. Mrs. Webber has been at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
W. C. Graham in Hilton Village,
Newport News, since several days before the death of her sister.

Tried To Stop It
She refused to reveal what the feelings of the parents were in the case now, but said that immediately after Mrs. Kane's death Mr. and Mrs. Graham asked Coroner G. K.
Vanderslice not to conduct the searching inquiry which followed the murder charge against Kane.
"We tried to keep from having an inquest," she said. "But Dr. Vanderslice said there was evidence which must be looked into. We could not stop it, and now that it has gone this far there is nothing we can do.
But we tried to stop it."
Mrs. Webber said her mother was ill and could not get out of bed as a result of grief and the mental strain which has followed the strange death of her daughter.
Jenny, by drowning last Friday.
The father, who is a justice of the peace in Hilton Village, has hardly stirred from his precise white bungalow since the inquiry into Mrs.

Kane's death began.

Refuse Statements
Both parents have flatly refused to comment publicly on the matter, and Mrs. Webber today denied that either parent had expressed personally the belief that Dr. Kane was guilty of the murder of their daughter.

The Graham dwelling, surrounded by evergreens growing almost flush with the house, has become the object of mild curiosity for those living in the vicinity.

Mrs. Webber revealed that her sister attended two schools in the south, Clifton Forge Seminary at Clifton Forge, Vir., and Elizabeth College at Salem, Va. Afterwards she studied voice at the Boston conservatory of music, Mrs. Webber said.
Mrs. Kane, she added never attended a public school.

"We tried in every possible to make things as easy as we could for mother," she said, "but she is prostrated. She has hardly been able to get out of bed since the inquiry into the death of Mrs. Kane started.
We have nothing to say as to our feelings in the matter at present.
There is nothing we can do about it."

Governor Pinchot Says Most Attention To Be Given To Farm Rural Roads

(International News Service)
CONCORDVILLE, Pa., Sept. 17.—
Majority of the highway funds of the commonwealth will continue to be expended solely on rural roads,
Gov. Gifford Pinchot declared today in a speech at the opening of a rural road project near here.
In his address, the governor asserted that a majority of Pennsylvania farmers are now on dirt roads and that so long as that condition exists the department of highways will concentrate on improving the roads.
Since the department has taken over an additional 20,000 miles of rural roads, the governor said, he has often been importuned to approve improvement of projects on main highways but has refused because it would reduce rural highway mileage.

Annual employment of 20,000 men was one of the benefits of the highway construction system cited by the governor.
"If we have any sort of luck," he told his hearers, "we shall have 20-000 men at work at the peak period next year."

Contagion Here Shows Big Drop
There were only three cases of contagious illness reported to the city department of health during the month of August, according to a report to be submitted by City Health Officer Dr. W. L. Steen to city council when they meet Friday at the city building. The cases were diphtheria, tuberculosis and Puerperal fever.

To the Citizens of New Castle:
I take this opportunity to express to you my deep felt gratitude of the

Early Military Operations In The West
4. Colonel Leavenworth

IN THE SUMMER OF 1823 COLONEL LEAVENWORTH, WITH A STRONG FORCE OF UNITED STATES TROOPERS, INVADDED THE INDIAN COUNTRY TO CHASTISE A BAND OF ARIKARAS THAT HAD ATTACKED SOME WHITE TRAPPERS.

LEAVENWORTH'S ADVANCE WAS SOON DISCOVERED BY INDIAN SCOUTS, AND DUSKY RIDERS RACED OFF TO WARN THE ARIKARAS OF THE COMING OF THE "LONGSWORDS".
(Copyright, 1931, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

INSTEAD OF RUNNING AWAY, THE ARIKARA CHIEFS PREPARED TO STAND AND FIGHT. THEY GATHERED ALL THEIR GRAVES AND FORTIFIED THEIR VILLAGE WITH A PALISADE.

PASSING THROUGH THE LAND OF THE DAKOTAS, LEAVENWORTH WAS MET BY A LARGE PARTY OF SIOUX INDIANS, WHO OFFERED TO HELP HIM PUNISH THE ARIKARAS. THE WHITE LEADER WELCOMED THE CO-OPERATION OF THESE SAVAGE FIGHTERS.

Cardinals Win League Pennant

St. Louis Cardinals For Fourth Time In Six Years Win National League Flag

MEET ATHLETICS ON OCTOBER 1

By COPELAND C. BURG International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—One of the dumbest and dullest pennant races in the history of the National League was dead as a mackerel today. Only a dead mackerel would be more exciting.

The St. Louis Cardinals became pennant winners for the second straight season and the fourth time in six years yesterday as they humiliated the wretched Phillies, 6 to 3. The Cards held the front seat in the long grind ever since late in April.

The Redbirds will meet the Philadelphia Athletics in the world series starting October 1 at St. Louis. No matter who wins it will then be proved whether the Cardinals were good or whether the Cubs, Robins and Giants were just plain bad.

Giants Drop Two

The Giants, for instance, could not have looked much worse than in dropping a doubleheader to the sub-basement gentlemen from Cincinnati. Red Lucas was quite too much for the New Yorkers and won the opener, 7 to 3. The Giants got almost twice as many hits as the Reds in the nightcap but lost, 4 to 3, as Sukeforth singled in Hendrick with the run that counted most.

The Robins practically cinched their first division berth by gangling up in the lucky seventh to score six runs, flopping Pittsburgh, 11 to 5. Clark was the winning pitcher.

Earnshaw was better than Ferrer and the champion Athletics won again, defeating Cleveland 7 to 5. It was the A's 100th success.

Cubs Win Fair

Pat Malone weakened but finally staggered in with a 6 to 5 triumph for the Chicago Cubs over Boston. The Bruins also took the second game, 8 to 3, coming from behind with five runs in the eighth and the winning tally in the ninth.

Webb of the Boston Sox poled doubles No. 62 and 63 to flip the Chicago White Sox 2 to 1, dropping the Chicagoans into the cellar.

Webb is only one clout behind George Burns world record for 64 doubles in a season.

Washington moved further ahead of New York in the battle for second place in the American League with Al Crowder hurling the Senators to a 6 to 2 advantage over the Brownies of St. Louis.

Form Gets Results

Home Economics Class Is Growing

Members of the school board were informed at their meeting last evening that there are 54 pupils enrolled in the home economics class at the senior high school this year.

The board had discussed the matter of abandoning this class because of a lack of interest last spring, but Dr. Green informed them that the per pupil cost this year for a teacher was far less with the present class than in any other department of school work.

Elder's Vote In Fifth Ward Larger

In the table of election returns, printed in last night's paper, the vote of P. O. Elder for county commissioner was given as 25 in the first precinct of the fifth ward. This should have read 235, one five having been dropped in the table. This would change the total vote received by Mr. Elder in the City of New Castle to 4,627, and his total vote in city and county to 7,020 instead of 6,790, as reported yesterday.

Some of our reformers will not be satisfied until our prisons are artificially cooled in the summer time and the prisoners are served three times a day with highballs clinking with real ice cubes.

SPYING ON SPORTS
BY WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor

Horace Greeley, the late editor who was so free with his advice, might have changed one word in that quip of his: "Go west, young man," and still have rated as an A-1 dispenser of lucrative tips.

Horace could have said "old man" instead of young man and he could have given his advice to Connie Mack. Anyway, Connie went west three times this year and, as a result, has his third straight American league title sewed up tight.

It was in the west this year that Connie reaped his reward. The east did its best to give the Athletics a nice berth around third or fourth place, but the west bent the humble knee and acclaimed Connie king.

These are the figures:

Against eastern opposition (New York, Boston and Philadelphia) the Athletics have won 35 games and lost 25. That is a percentage of .583.

Against western opposition (Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis) the Athletics have won 62 and lost but 17. That's a percentage of .783.

Against eastern opposition the A's did not do quite as well as winning two out of the three games, but playing the west the Philadelphia club did better than three out of four.

To add to the luck of the A's was the manner in which these same western clubs played against Washington and New York. Connie's most feared pennant rivals.

Though bowing in abject humility to the might of the Mackmen the Indians rough housed Washington, copping two out three games when ever these teams met. The Cleveland club has won two more games from the New Yorks than the Yanks have been able to win from them.

Detroit, able to win but three games from the A's, slapped the Senators six times and the Yankees eight times. Chicago, also gaining but three decisions against Philadelphia has taken seven from Washington and four from New York.

The case of the Cardinals in the National league somewhat resembles that of the Athletics—but isn't such a drastic picture of weakness in the west.

St. Louis has been able to break a little better than even against New York, Brooklyn and Boston, but has swamped the Phillies.

However, Pittsburgh alone in the west has been able to give the Cards anything resembling an even fight. Chicago shows a six-game deficit with the Cards, Cincinnati has been able to win but two of her 17 games with the champions.

St. Louis has won 43 games and lost but 20 against the west. That's playing .682 baseball. The east has given the Cardinals 47 wins and 29 losses. That's .632.

Can Operate High School Pools On Temporary Permit

Application Blanks Have Not Been Printed As Yet By State, Board Learns

Although a recent enactment of the state legislature which became effective September 1, requires the licensing of swimming pools, along with a number of other establishments, the license forms are not ready for use at the present time and the schools here are operating their swimming pools under a temporary permit.

As soon as it became known that the school pools would be governed by the new law, the department of health in Harrisburg was queried about the matter and a request made for the necessary permit. The school district was informed that the forms were not ready for distribution as yet, but inasmuch as they had acted in good faith and requested a permit, they would be allowed to operate until the license forms were ready.

You need a bladder physio to drive out impurities and excessive acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Get a 25c test box of B-KETS, the bladder physio, from any drug store. After four days if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. B-KETS, containing bismuth leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache, or leg pains arising from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.

Shabat Shuvah At Temple Israel

Sabbath Of Repentance Will Be Observed Friday Evening With Meditation

A further service in the Ten Days of Repentance observed by Jewry the world over at this time of year, will be held Friday evening at 8 p. m. in Temple Israel, corner Moody and Highland avenue, when Shabat Shuvah is celebrated and Saturday morning, September 19th at 10:30 a. m. Rabbi Avery Jonah Grossfield officiating. The topic of the sermon for Friday evening will be: "Do You Know How to Pray?"

As the Ten Days of Repentance (the ten days beginning with Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year, and ending with Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement) progress, they increase in intensity of awe and spiritual awakening, until the climax is reached with the Neilah or

Train Self To Schedule Doctor Myers Advises Teachers Seeking Ideal

Definite Assignments Will Aid In Attaining That Skill
Necessary To Success In Profession

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

A major sign of skillful teaching is intelligent lesson assignments. In spite of all the books and lectures emphasizing the importance of making detailed and definite assignments, few teachers nearly approach the ideal in regard to this aspect of teaching.

Human nature motivates us to be interested in the here and now. We who teach become so engrossed in the lesson at hand that we tend not to look ahead and plan. With more limited experience and less foresight, the student, as a rule, whether of the fifth grade or college, is the less inclined to be concerned about what the next lesson is to be.

A practical problem confronts the teacher. If the recitation period is well conducted it leads naturally to the next lesson and prepares for it; so the latter part of the period is the best time for assignment. But it often happens that the class period comes to an end before the assignment has been made. It would seem an easy matter to follow a clock and make the assignment in good time. Nevertheless, the teacher finds it about as hard to train herself to a schedule as the mother does who attempts to train her baby in good toilet habits by placing him on the nursery chair at regular intervals. Nevertheless, to find ample time for effectual lesson assignments is worth striving for. Fortunately, skillful teachers are turning their attention more and more to teaching children in class to study, and is growing less interested in the traditional form of recitation.

We parents are greatly interested in this problem, particularly as soon as the pupil is assigned home work. How hard it is for him to go at his lessons in the evening, when it is not clear to him just what he is to do. In case he does the wrong thing for several evenings he will grow discouraged and disinterested. If in his mind the assignment is vague and uncertain, he will find easy excuse to himself and to his parents for not doing any home work; even he may subtly develop the habit of reporting to his parents that he has no home work, doing so, by and by, in good conscience. In his study periods at school and at home he may, because of vague and indefinite assignments, acquire the habit of dawdling and day dreaming.

Some children don't half attend to the assignments when they are given. There is the pupil who takes the attitude, "I'll ask Eunice," closing her ears to think of something more to her liking while the assignment is being made. Maybe Eunice has failed to get all of it, too. Even if she has heard it all, she may not be able to make clear to the other pupil what is to be done.

The wise teacher not only provides ample time in her program for proper lesson assignment, but she cultivates the skill of making the assignment very definite. She trains the child to have a notebook and to write in it each assignment exactly what he is to do. Such a notebook properly used is of rare value to the parent who wishes to co-operate with the school in cultivating regular habits of home study in the child old enough for home work. It removes from the student the temptation to deceive himself that he has no home work, and emphasizes in his mind the importance of planning for the morrow. Character habits as well as school successes are involved. Readers of this column doubtless would be greatly interested in reports sent in by teachers who are sure they have been successful in making good lesson assignments. I should like to pass along some such reports.

Eskimos Have Own Problem Of Aid To The Poor

By W. F. PETERSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The depression has penetrated into the chilly north, with the result that the Eskimos are unable to dispose of their furs, according to John Borden, Chicago capitalist and Arctic explorer.

Asked for counsel, Borden wrote to his northland friends—inhabitants of King Island—and advised them to cease hunting animals for the time being. He urged them to concentrate on making ivory chess men out of walrus tusks, at which they are very proficient.

In the letter informing Borden of the Arctic "hard times", Chief John leader of the King Island Eskimos said:

"But here we strike a snag. We cannot sell our hides, and the ivory sells poorly. We are told that times are hard in the States. They are becoming hard here also. We have lots of meat in our cold storage but we want to buy cartridges and some flour and some cream for our babies, etc. For that we have to have cash. We don't want to start any credit in the stores. That would be bad business.

"With this letter we are sending three sets of chess men, hoping they will please you. We are going to give an old fashioned ball in two weeks to raise money for our poor. I hope you can be here, you will hear some music you'll never forget."

The chess men sent are unique. The king pieces are Eskimo hunters the queens are Eskimo women with paposes slung over their backs, the bishops are polar bears, the castles are igloos, the knights are walruses and pawns are represented by dogs, foxes and seals.

Borden met Chief John, otherwise known as Charles A. Olanara when he led the John Borden Field museum expedition into the far north in 1927.

MAXIM STILLS NOISE

NEW YORK—Perfection of noise exterminator was the reward of Max P. Maxim, 62-year-old inventor, today for 12 years of hard work. Maxim, a former manufacturer of silencers for rifles, who lives in Hartford, Conn., obtained the inspiration for his latest invention while staying at a hotel in Milwaukee in 1929. It was then that he decided noise was man's worst enemy. The new device is nothing more than a metal box which by placing in on windows, shuts out all street noises and filters the air coming into the room. Every two minutes the air is changed thereby causing a fresh current to circulate through the room and lowering the temperature in hot weather.

Jimmy Dolan, 20, Night Worker Sleepless Hero Of Golf Tourney

By DAVID F. KILEY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

BOSTON, Sept. 16—What is this so-called love for a sport?

Perhaps the explanation can be found in retracing the steps of young Jimmy Dolan, 20 year old son of a Worcester policeman and runner up to Joe Batchelder of Salem, winner of the New England Amateur Golf Championship at Brookline.

Employed nights as a despatcher in a Worcester branch of an electric concern, Dolan, a former caddie at Wachusett club finds time to play tournament golf during the day.

But his courage and stamina during the championship tournament have yet to be touched, according to the veterans of the game, and all because—"I love the game."

Each morning young Jimmy returned home from work, rushed through his breakfast and set out with his personal gallery of five youths and a bag of clubs in a ramshackle automobile for the tournament, a distance of more than 42 miles a daily total of over 84 miles.

His sleep during the four days of the tournament totalled slightly more than eight hours with an occasional nap taken between rounds.

Daily he romped 36 holes over hill and dale during the rounds, a distance of 13,110 yards, or nearly eight miles, defeating several veterans in his march to the final round.

Throughout the four days the temperature reached nearly 100 degrees but Jimmy merely smiled and counselled by his caddy friends carried on.

The final day of the tournament saw Dolan arrive with his left foot encased in a house slipper and carrying his shoe. A large blister had formed on the instep of the foot caused by a tight shoe, the day previous. But Jimmy remedied this by taping the limb and borrowing a larger pair of shoes.

Veterans of the Scotch game stood agape at the stamina of the youth as they joined in the gallery in the final round. Many turned back after traversing part of the course due to the intense heat, but Jimmy refused to break under the strain.

On the opening hole Batchelder snared two birdie threes to Dolan's par fours. Such a start would have discouraged the best of golfers. Not with Jimmy. He fought on.

Such was the situation throughout the 36 holes with Batchelder finally winning 9 and 7 playing superb golf, but Dolan's playing was not to be overlooked with his card reading for the day just this side of par. For ten consecutive holes during the day's play, the Salem champion was shooting for birdie threes.

And under a shady tree well up on the cliff near the ninth hole and the turn of the course sat a little Irish mother for two afternoon watching her son as the romped over the course.

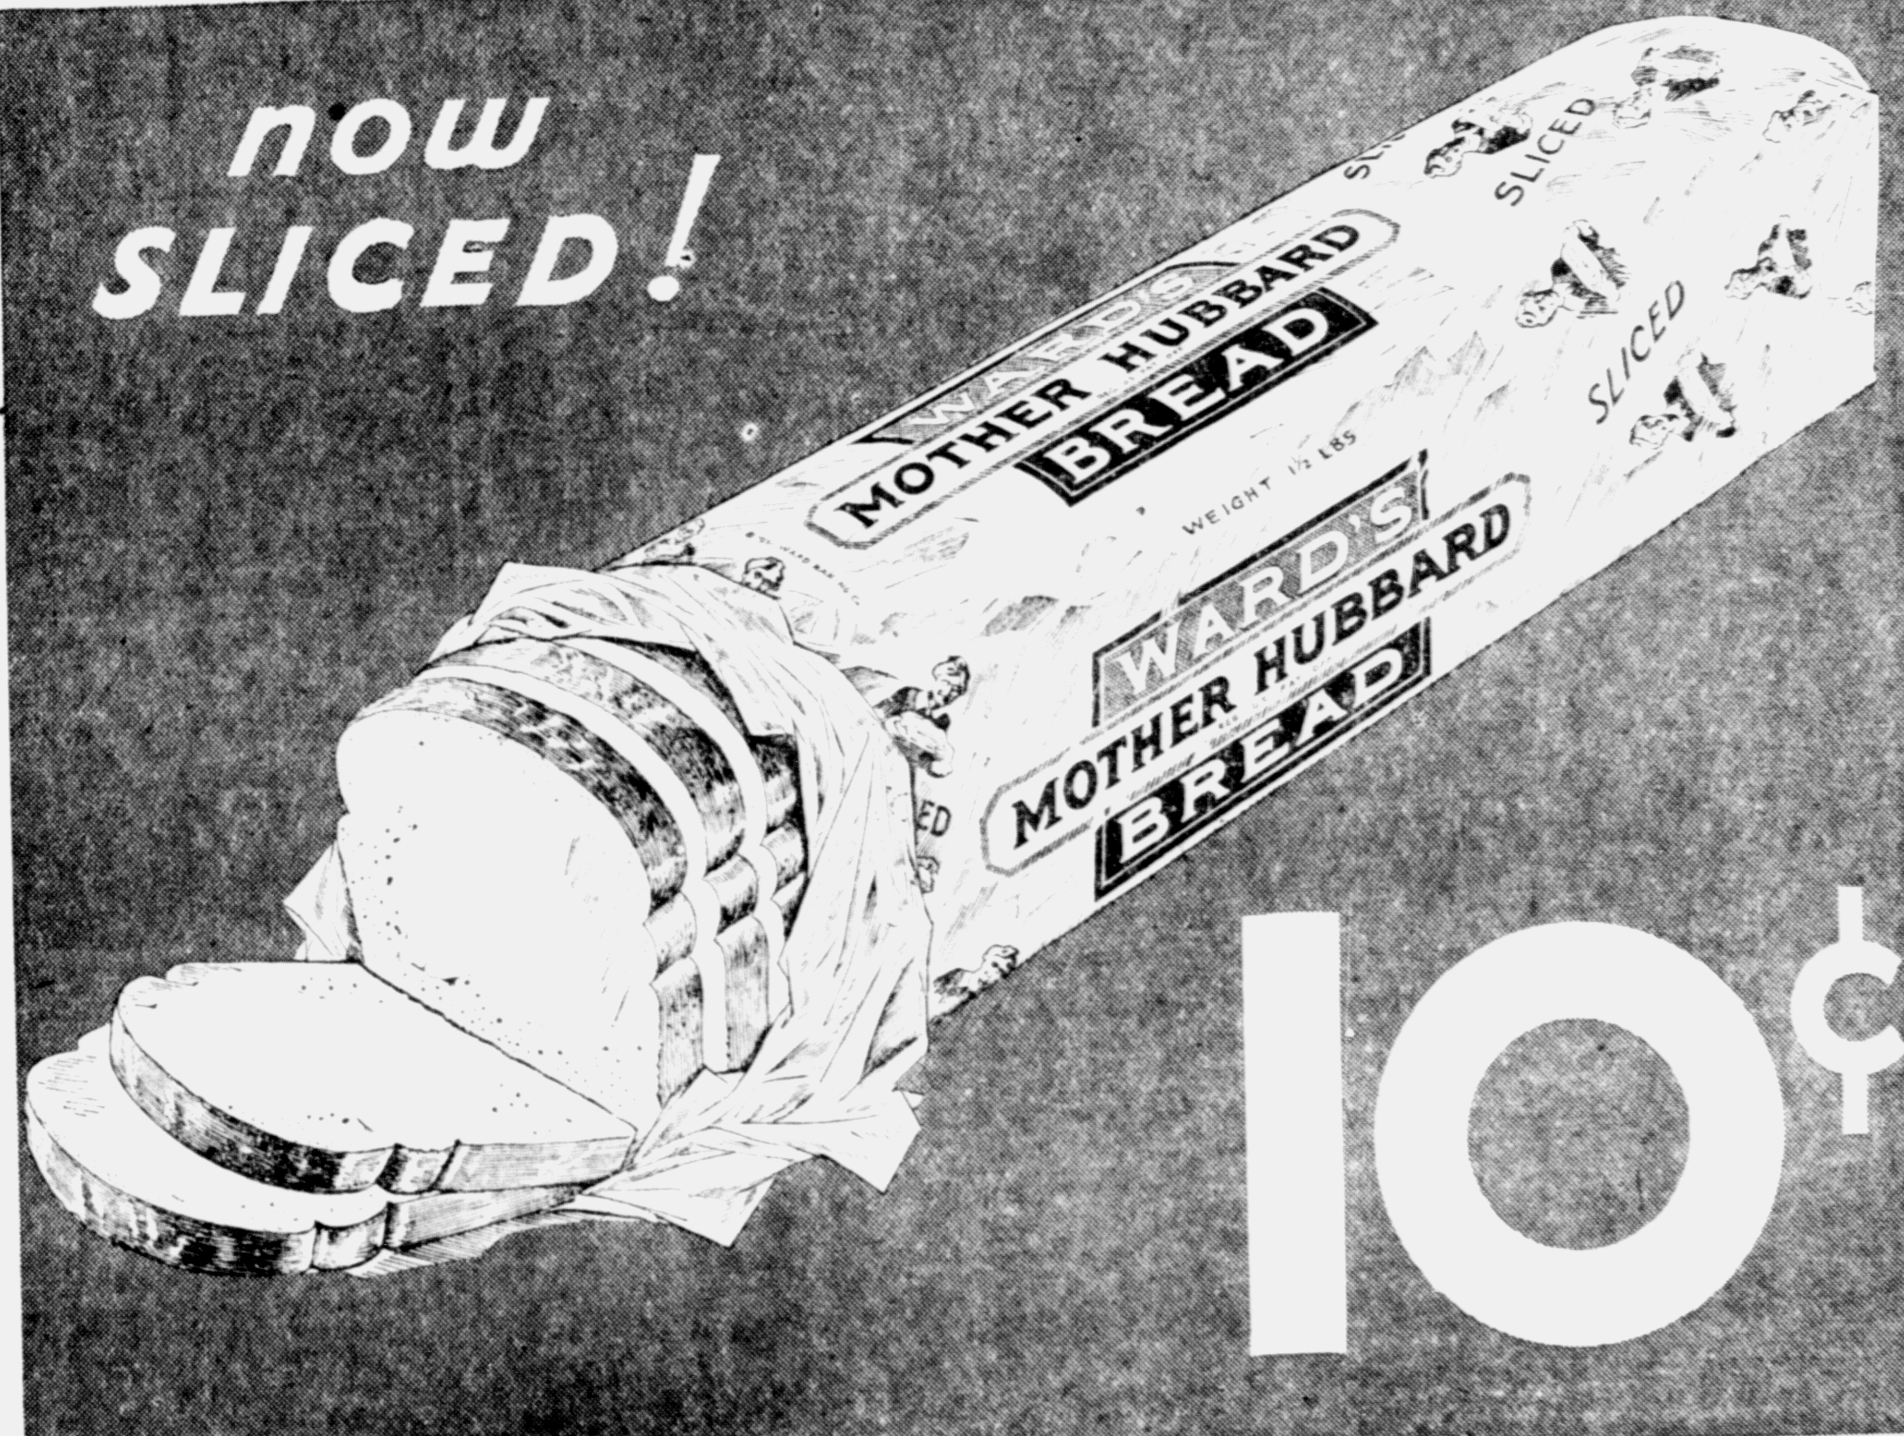

"How does that son of yours do it?" asked an elderly individual who happened to recognize Mrs. Dolan.

"Well, what can you do with a boy that loves the game as Jimmy does," replied Mrs. Dolan.

NEW CASTLE OPENS FOOTBALL SEASON FRIDAY

CORAOPOLIS ELEVEN OPENS GRID CALENDAR

Local Eleven Set For Battle; Game To Start At 7:45 O'Clock

Starting Lineup Undecided; Admission Price To Game Is Cut Down

New Castle high school's 1931 football campaign opens Friday night at Taggart field when the local Red and Black warriors oppose Coraopolis high. The initial grid tilt of the season starts at 7:45 o'clock.

With an experienced line and a light backfield, Coach Phil Bridenbaugh feels optimistic of starting the season with a win. Fans who wend their way to Taggart field tomorrow night will see a new array of gridders flaunting the colors of the local high school.

Line Is Heavy

The line is one of the heaviest in a number of years. The line will be composed of the following huskies: DeCarbo at center; Workman and Mike at guards; Askounes and Crisci at tackles; Ciccone at one of the ends and the other end post is still uncertain. There are a number of prospects out for the berth left open by Fred Hienrich who is nursing injuries he recently sustained in a workout. Norman Nocera, Ludwig Ostresky and Wil-1. Kazenli may be the boys to start at the end post.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is undecided on his backfield. For the past week and a half he has been trying out several combinations in the hope of finding one that will manipulate to his taste. William McIver and Tom Rambo have been fighting hard for the quarterback post.

Joe Wrona appears like the probable fullback with a number of grid-ders after the half back positions. James, John Uram, Hib Reynolds and others are among those who hope to start in the backfield. John Uram, James or Reynolds will probably get the call.

Coraopolis high reports having a stronger team than last year when it fell down to defeat in the 1930 season. Practices have been plentiful for the Coraopolis boys who are coming here to average for that reason last season. Coraopolis may be here Thursday night to work grid under the lights it was reported.

With only today left, the local gridders will be working through a light workout this evening under the glaring lights. The workout will be for the purpose of getting the gridders accustomed to the lights and night atmosphere.

A change has been arranged for the field. Annually a local concern or individual took over the refreshment stands. Upon the suggestion of Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, the concession stands have been granted to the Senior class of the high school. The proceeds will be placed in a fund for school children in the grade schools and in the Junior high schools of the city. The money thus realized will be expended probably by the superintendent and a committee of school principals for poor and needy boys and girls.

The members of the Senior class have agreed to donate their services and their own personalizing the refreshment stands will be helping some one in need.

The game Friday will start at 7:45 o'clock. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Grier stated today. The officials for the game will be Ted Fry, Pitt, referee; Les Harr, Geneva, umpire, and Don Parsons, Geneva, head linesman.

"One of the biggest crowds is expected a season opening is expected to attend the opening night game of the season."

The trouble with being a revolutionist in Cuba is that if you get tired you can't run very far unless you are a good swimmer.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Miss Caroline, a three year old fully by Hourless and War Tidings which had never won a race before, won the seventh race at Lincoln Fields, Chicago, yesterday and paid $319.70 for a $2 straight, mutual. Deducing the price of a ticket this figure represents odds of $159.85 for $1, the highest price paid by a winner on the American turf in many years.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn's defeat at the hands of Abe Espinosa was the only upset yesterday as the annual P. G. A. tourney moved into the quarter-final round at the Wannamisset Country club, Espinosa, 2 down soon after the start of the final 18, rallied strongly to win 2 and 1.

The Redbirds won their fourth National league baseball pennant in the last six years when Cincinnati beat the Giants of New York in the first of a doubleheader. The Redbirds won from Philadelphia and last night St. Louis celebrated with horns, noisemakers and confetti.

Although no baseball in history has won three successive world championships, $5 will bring you one is certain the Athletics will not accomplish the feat in the 1931 world series. Gabby Street believes his Cards will stop the Athletics but there are men who lay odds who do not think so.

The knockout of Emmett Rocco by K. O. Christner removes the veterans from the role of rivals, temporarily at least. Rocco has suffered several defeats recently and his sidekick, Mickey Solomon has also lost twice by a knockout.

No bout during the last six months has awakened more interest here than the scheduled Tommy Arnold-Johnny Jennings bout to be staged September 28. They are hometown products, left-handers, good hitters, courageous and it is likely that either will win by a knockout.

Jennings can take a good leathering on the stomach and Arnold's jaw is concrete. Tommy has lost a fight he could not have won and Jennings has the distinction of having gone the limit with Frankie Belarski who fights Andy Martin at Pittsburgh tonight. This bout looks especially inviting.

Smith & Dygert are putting Arnold through the paces while Arch Cuno is prepping Jennings. Arnold is working out with boys at the Park. Jennings wants to get somewhere, now that he has started a comeback and Arnold figures he has a good future. He is a former football player. They weigh 140 pounds.

His victims were Eddie Murray, Connecticut; Teddy Hayes, Newark and Manuel Maderia, Newark. All were middleweights. Leonard's weight was not announced. Union Ready For Ellwood Battle

Coach "Morg" Boyd Has Light And Fast Team At Union High This Season

HOPE TO MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Union high school football team has had a couple of tough scrimmage sessions for the past two days and are out to give Ellwood City a real test Saturday at the Ellwood City high field. Coach "Morg" Boyd has the Union team all pepped up and ready to go.

The game will start at 2 o'clock P. M. Every man on the squad has had a chance to do his stuff, and the expectations of finding some fast backfield material is about doomed. Jaworski and Augustyn of the 1930 team are the veteran backfield men.

At the ends Coach Boyd has been using Lantian and Davis the most. A good pair of substitute wingmen could be used very nicely, according to Coach Boyd.

Thursday and Friday will be spent in signal practice to develop a good forward passing attack and to liven up the ends. Coach Boyd has instructed the candidates at noon-time for the candidates.

Union high will be very well supported in the game at Ellwood City it is indicated.

Two More Vets Are Dropped By Titans

Michael and Hamas, Veteran Gridders Forced To Quit Due To Financial Trouble

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 17.—Financial conditions are playing hobbs with the veteran players of the Westminster college football team. Two more veterans found it unable to manage their finances for the year yesterday and dropped from camp. They were Co-Captain Harry Michaels, fullback, Turtle Creek; and George Hamas, fullback, Wallington, N. J.

Michaels had played on the varsity for three years, and Hamas was his letter last year. Hamas was also a star track man, having broken the Titan shot put record last spring.

Fourteen Vets Gone. The departure of Hamas and Michaels makes 14 veterans from last year's outfit lost. Five had completed their four years of play, eight dropped from college, and one is on the injured list and did not report this year. Of these 14 veterans, 12 were lettermen.

The only lettermen remaining are—Richard Fuller, guard; George Ce-bula, end; Captain Glen Rehfus, tackle; Glen Shaffer, half; and Alan Van Harper, half. These five men will be the nucleus around which the Titans team will have to be built. Fourteen freshmen and six upper classmen who were substitutes last year, completes the Titan roster.

Workmen excavating in New Jersey the other day dug up some pennies coined in 1776. They were probably buried by some timid person who thought that the world was going to smash before 1780.

Mooney Brothers At St. Francis To Play Grid Game

Harland And Angelo Mooney Are Out For Football Team At St. Francis College

LATROBE, Pa., Sept. 17.—Gene Stringer is putting his teams thru stiff scrimmages this week in an effort to select the best material that will form a team to go against Geneva in St. Francis' opening game at Beaver Falls, Friday night, September 25. Stringer has veterans at center, tackle, quarter, and fullback but must replenish the remaining positions with either holdovers from last year's squad or with new men who have reported this fall. He has a fine array of material among his freshmen, and believes he can build a team that will come out on top of the schedule that calls for games with Geneva, Canisius, St. Thomas, Slippery Rock, Davis-Elkins, U. S. Coast Guard, St. Vincent, and Catholic U.

Included in the list of players on the squad are Harland and Angelo Mooney of New Castle high, who are bidding for end and guard positions on the Red Flash team. Howard Brown, Earl Houk, John Keats and Tom Lallen, all of Sharpville, are other western-state boys who are making good on the team.

Offered a bout with Jack Dempsey at the Yankee stadium here next May or June, and another with Max Schmeling here in September if victorious over the Manassa mauler, Tunney said.

"I'd like to win the championship for America, and I could use the $750,000 that the two fights would net me—what man couldn't?"

"I did some road work this very morning, for the very first time since my fight with Tom Heeney. I had decided that I was through with fighting and that is the way my mind is right now, and yet, I don't know. While I'm in Maine for the next two weeks, I'll consider the matter more seriously."

Center Position Is Tough Job On Football Eleven

In Olden Days Center Had To Be Big Beefy Man— Must Be Brainy Kind Today

FOOTBALL GAME HAS CHANGED

By EDDIE CASEY (Copyright by International News Service 1931)

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—In the whole realm of football there seemed to be no job as lowly as that of center. He was usually the largest man on the team, chosen so that his weight would help in the pushing and pulling, and his only job was to pass the ball back between his legs, or even roll it back without even the elevation of an automatic ejector.

Today all this is past and the position of center is that of a colorful, difficult and varied job. The type selected for the position must be athletic, in every sense, beyond the average. We read about and go to see outstanding centers play in games much as we go to see star backs or ends perform.

Times Have Changed. While a combination of circumstances has combined to bring about this condition, two factors closely allied are chiefly responsible. These are that the center is expected to move behind the line as a defensive back when the other team has the ball, and also that football has become such an open game that all teams use a six man line on the defense some of the time and many teams use this all the time.

All three were more nearly half-backs and half-centers than centers. To be such all-round players, backfield men half the game and line-men half the game, requires great versatility and stamina. All three were leaders of their teams in personality as well as ability.

With all the varied duties, many of which are open to view by any spectator at all times, the position of center is that of a type worthy of special study by every follower of football. At your next game spend a little time watching this man who does such a difficult job, part of it hidden and part very apparent.

Bleacher Seat Price Is Cut To 25 Cents

At a recent meeting of the athletic council which was held at the senior high school, the members agreed to cut the price of admission to the bleachers at Taggart field during the coming football season which starts Friday night.

The price of admission to the bleachers seats located across from the stadium stands will be 25 cents. Tickets for the bleachers can be purchased only at the Cunningham avenue booth. Other years, price of admission to these seats was 50 cents. Faculty Manager Ralph G. Gardner stated that there has been no change of price for seats in the stadium. Reserved seat tickets are now on sale at the Sporting Goods store on East Washington street. The tickets will be on sale until Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Tunney Thinking About Comeback

Gene Tunney Retired Heavyweight Champion Would Like To Meet Schmeling

(International News Service) PALO ALTO, Cal., Sept. 17.—Glenns "Pop" Warner, Stanford football coach, was pronounced in better condition today after suffering from an internal disorder. His physicians said the veteran football mentor, may be able to lead his team in practice within a few days.

Warner's Condition Slightly Improved

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Further corroboration of a report that Gene Tunney may return to the ring next summer was seen Wednesday following a conference between the retired heavyweight champion and Damon Runyon and W. S. Parrish, promoter for Mrs. William Randolph Hearst's free milk fund for babies.

Offered a bout with Jack Dempsey at the Yankee stadium here next May or June, and another with Max Schmeling here in September if victorious over the Manassa mauler, Tunney said.

Pro Gridders Hold Meeting

New Castle Collegians Will Start Workouts Soon, Meet Wednesday

MATERIAL LOOKS VERY PROMISING

Twenty-seven ex-collegiate grid stars and young men who have seen action on the New Castle high eleven and on independent teams of the city attended a meeting of the New Castle Collegians, a semi-pro football eleven which will represent New Castle this season. The meeting was staged Wednesday night at the club rooms of the Elephant club on East Long avenue.

Games with clubs in Akron, McKeesport and vicinity are pending. This semi-pro eleven will be composed of some of the best gridders in this district as well as some of the best who have played in Southern institutions. Leopold, a member of North Carolina eleven was selected on the All-Southern eleven in 1930. He will play with the local eleven.

Pipoly of Dennison University is another noted gridder who hopes to land a berth on the local pro eleven. Bailey, quarterback for Lafayette is also out for this team. McPhillips, another prominent star from Wyoming will add much strength to the combination.

Tip Richards, of Geneva, who is known as a great backfield man attended the meeting and will be out to land a berth on the eleven. Frank Leonard, 1930 captain of Thiel college and one of the best gridders turned out in this city will also play. Dauf of California Normal, Myers of Thiel who is reputed of being a star, Thomas of Thiel, Fahy of Duquesne, Howley of Hobart, Reese of Duquesne, J. Offutt of Westminster, Summers of Duquesne, Myler of Westminster, and Fernati of Bellefonte are other stars who hope to secure a position on the semi-pro eleven.

Practices will probably start Monday afternoon at Centennial field. Those who attended the meeting follow: Leonard, Myers, Richards, McPhillips, Leopold, Pipoly, Thomas, Bailey, Fahy, Howley, Reese, J. Offutt, Summers, Myler, Fernati, Fahy, DiThomas, P. Ross, Marino, Mele, C'bon, Adams, D. Ross and Sargent. A. Augustine, Ambrosia and Haug.

Sharkey Thinks He Can Defeat Primo Carnera

Boston Slugger Says He Will Hang Up Gloves If He Should Fail This Trip

CLAIMS CARNERA IS AWFULLY SLOW

By LES CONKLIN International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—How do you figure you can whip Primo Carnera, weighing over 260 pounds, when you couldn't whip Mike Walker, who weighed ninety pounds less?

This question, put to Jack Sharkey this morning, failed to jar the Boston tar as he began a day's training here for his fifteen-round bout with the Italian man-mountain at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn on Oct. 1.

"I'll finish Carnera just like I polished off Godfrey, Willis and other big fellows," he predicted. "Smaller or lighter men like Walker, Riske, Henney and Delaney are the ones who have given me the most trouble."

Sharkey Confident. "When you meet a shorter man you've got to fight his kind of a fight. You've got to hit down at him, and he hits you first."

Against Carnera it will be different. He's so big that I can't help but hit him somewhere, and I think I can put him on the floor. With a target like that, my timing and judgement of distance will be sharper than it was against Walker. We'll see how good Primo is."

Sharkey, in good of his old-time talkative, belligerent mood, was fully confident of toppling the ambling Alp, but declared he will quit the same if he loses.

"If I take another disappointing showing I won't dare show my face again," said the sailor earnestly. "I've had many chances. If I flop this time, which I won't, I'll hang up the gloves for good."

Geneva Prepares For First Game Of 1931 Season

Duquesne University Will Be Test For Geneva
Gridders In Friday
Night Battle

FORBES FIELD IS SCENE FOR GAME

REEVES STADIUM, BEAVER FALLS, Sept. 17.—Morning and evening workouts continue here as Coaches Harpster and Lovewell press their Geneva charges in preparation for the grid season lid-lifter at Forbes Field Friday night of this week, against Elmer Layden's Duquesne Night Riders. Memories of the 7-0 triumph attained by Geneva over the heavily favored Dukes a year ago recur time and again to instill confidence in a squad hampered by heavy backfield losses and current injuries.

Geneva enters the fray with the Dukes with the knowledge that this opening game means a great deal in the quest for district prestige. On top of that the Covenanters squad realizes that it is to defend a school record of having lost only once to Duquesne in the past thirty years or more. The sole defeat was the 27-7 setback suffered during the Fleniken regime in 1929.

Harpster has retained three centers, Ransom, Rodemeyer, and Hudson; five guards, Stauffer, Howell, Gramley, Paris, and Weikle; five tackles, McKee, Cooper, Johnson, Turpin, and McConnell; four ends, Aultman, Sole, Ifft, and Rimbey; three quarterbacks, Grahame, Troiano, and Campbell; two blocking halfbacks, Robbins and Rupp; four running backs, Heffley, Monroe, Sauer, and Evans; and four fullbacks, Pietsch, Weigle, Jones and Nelle.

Marcellas Lose To All-Stars

The New Castle All-Stars midget team handed the Marcellas of the Class B midget league a 13 to 4 setback last night at Lehigh Field. Bob Hamilton and Fahey also hit the ball hard. Campoli and B. Pascarella were the pitchers for the Marcellas. Paul McCullough played with the All-Stars.

Sarazen To Be One Of

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 17.—I don't spend much time on the golf links excepting when I am playing myself, but I got a great kick out of watching Gene Sarazen hit the ball in the professional championship yesterday. There is no man in the tournament who is playing quite so well as the Italian-American, and I look for him to go to the final stages of this championship.

Gene is my choice to beat Horton Smith today. A year or so ago when Smith was winning everything in sight, but I got a great kick out of watching Gene Sarazen hit the ball in the professional championship yesterday. There is no man in the tournament who is playing quite so well as the Italian-American, and I look for him to go to the final stages of this championship.

Isn't there some way the farm board could train those grasshoppers to eat the surplus cotton?

play as badly as he did against MacFarlane yesterday and hope to beat Gene Sarazen the next day. You can't come on your game quite so suddenly.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Market Prices Are Forced Back Down

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A flood of selling orders for the principal utility and industrial stocks broke over the market in the first hour today, carrying prices to new low levels for the year, and opening up price gaps of 1 to 2 1/2 points as compared with yesterday's close. The bears launched a "drive" against the favorites, based on the weakness exhibited in the last fifteen minutes of Wednesday's session, when virtually all of the ground gained by many stocks in the afternoon was wiped off.

Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, United Corporation, American and Foreign Power and other well-known utilities fell off a point or more in this selling wave. American Telephone lost 1 1/2, and U. S. Steel was down a point. Union Pacific and Atchison, in the railroad group, lost more than a point each and a dozen of the well known rails sold fractionally lower. Copper stocks weakened on reports of selling of a quantity of the Red Metal at 7 cents a pound, the lowest on record.

With a turnover of 500,000 shares the market reached its lowest level in the first half-hour, and rallied as the forenoon advanced. United States Steel recovered all of its early losses, with an upturn from 78 1/2 to 79 1/2, while the Utilities and Specialties were able to regain about half of the ground lost. American Can, Dupont and General Motors led a moderate rally in the Industrials, and New Haven in the rails. Trading fell off in volume in all sections of the market.

Industrial and business reports were fairly encouraging. United States government bonds firm and commodity market steady with cotton off a few points and grain fractionally lower. Call money was unchanged at 1 1/2 per cent.

A better tone in the railroad stocks in the second hour was reflected in sharp rallies in Atchison, New Haven and Union Pacific.

Little Boys Talk Better Than Girls

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Women may be the undisputed champion talkers, but it has been definitely established that just the opposite is true among young children.

A survey of 3-year-old children showed that boys hold the record for lengthy and good conversation. In a test given by Dr. Janet Fowler Nelson boys showed greater activity and initiative and more interest in their surroundings.

The experiment also revealed that children slowest to respond to tests were the least intelligent.

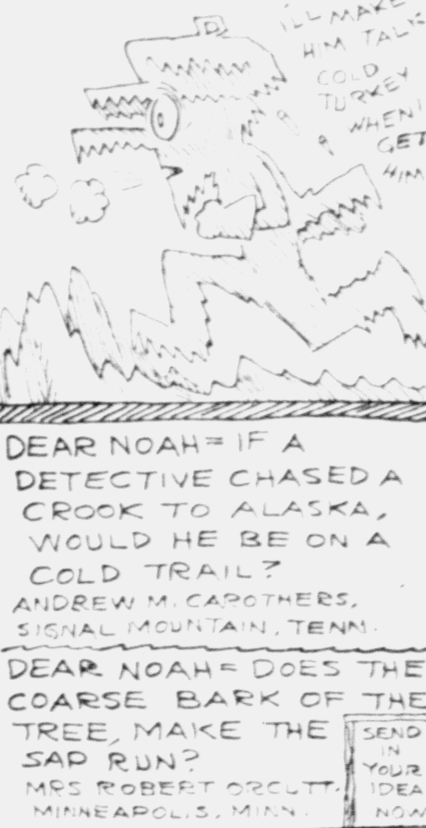

Nearly 200 years were spent in building the original St. Paul's Cathedral in London and it burned to the ground before it was finished.

Night Cereus Blooms Profusely

A night blooming cereus that is breaking the world's record in blooming is the property of Mrs. Edgar Smith, 805 Oak street and will be in bloom this evening about nine o'clock with from 9 to 11 blossoms out, although there are many more buds on it which the owner thinks will not mature.

One bloom appeared July 27, another on August 7 and on August 8 there were 7 blossoms, four on August 9, one on August 12 and now the plant is putting forth another crop of these exquisite blooms this evening and Mrs. Smith will welcome any one who wishes to see the plant.

It is said the odor of these flowers is of such magnitude that they can be smelled a block or more away when they are open.

DICTATION BY TELEPHONE

(International News Service)
BOSTON—Telephone dictation is now in use in some of the telephone departments, with the prospect that it will be adopted by other large concerns. Instead of calling a stenographer to take letters, an executive merely calls the regular switchboard dictation. He is then connected with the stenographic bureau, and a typist, with a telephone operator's set takes the dictation.

It is especially hard to tell a wise man from a fool when both suggest plans for saving the country.

Old-Time Trades Are Fading Fast

(International News Service)
SUNBURY, Pa., Sept. 17.—Old time trades, once indispensable to each community, are following the cigar store Indian into oblivion, a survey of county industries showed.

At one time hundreds of rag carpet weaving looms operated in Northumberland county; scores of blacksmiths maintained busy and prosperous shops and harness-makers in Sunbury; as few throughout the county; three harness-makers in the entire county; and a scattered handful of rag carpet weavers.

Crash That Killed Two Fliers

Paul Boyd, pilot, and his mechanic, Stanley Wokis, were killed when this plane crashed at Buffalo, N. Y. The men, employed by the Curtiss Airplane Company, were taking a new craft for a test flight and experienced trouble in mid-air. Coming out of a power dive, the ship appeared to fall apart. The fliers attempted to jump clear with their parachutes, but were unable to extricate themselves from the cockpit.

School Board Will Make Study Of School Costs

Will Gather Information From State And Other Municipalities

FACE PROBLEM IN KEEPING TAX DOWN

Married Women Stricken From Substitute Teacher List This Year

Members of the board of school directors are already looking forward to next year, when they will face a serious problem in trying to keep school costs down low enough to prevent a raise in taxation.

For the past two years they have pruned the budget and economized as much as they possibly can, but will find the task a far more difficult one during the coming year than they have during the past two years.

A resolution was passed last evening authorizing President Woolrock to appoint a committee to make inquiry among other municipalities in the state and from the State Department of Education relative to school costs and budget methods elsewhere.

Taboo Married Teachers
During the course of the discussion one of the members called attention to one citizen who had attended a meeting of the Taxpayers' League prior to the election and who was calling the attention of the assembly to the high taxes paid here, and who was on the list of citizens belonging to the volunteer fire department for whom exonerations are asked every year.

A large part of the evening was spent in discussing finances and employment.

Superintendent Green informed the members of the board that married women had been stricken from the list of substitute teachers this year. He explained that in the past it had been the policy of the superintendent to call married women only in cases where they were unable to get others who were well qualified.

All principals are required to fill in a special report every time a married woman is employed and to send this report to the central office daily. Married women are to be called in cases of emergency only and are to be replaced by another teacher as soon as one is available.

Meet Objections
The board decided that in cases where the husband of a married woman was unemployed and the family in need of assistance that this rule could be waived, but approved the action of the superintendent. It was stated by the board that the principal objection against married teachers had been the employment of wives of principals or teachers making good salaries, and that there were thus two pay checks going into the same family each month, while others were needing the work.

This brought up the question of married help at the Benjamin Franklin and George Washington junior high schools, but an investigation revealed the fact that in only one case was a woman being employed whose husband was also in the employ of the school district. This was at the George Washington building. The three women employed at the Ben Franklin school receive but a small salary, and in all cases were shown to be in need of employment, as their husbands were unemployed or were getting but a few days a week.

Window Glass Is Big Repair Item

Practically All Schools Have Had Windows Broken During Summer

New Castle's bad boys have evidently been busy with slingshots or with missiles of various kinds during the past summer, as the list of repairs authorized by the Business Manager which the board was asked to approve, included a great amount of window glass.

At the Pollock school, this item amounted to $11.43, and at the Mahoning school, amounted to $27.92. Most other schools were considerably less.

Aiken School Displays Flowers And Vegetables

Harvest time approaches and the embryo farmers of the nature study garden clubs of the schools of the city are busy gathering in their crops of vegetables and the best of their flower gardens for the exhibit being held this week.

At Aiken school on Pearson street Wednesday afternoon the little folks made their annual exhibit and the nature study room was beautiful with the many bouquets artistically arranged and the tall sunflowers in the corners. In one corner stood a sunflower 15 feet high, with a mammoth blossom drooping its head from the very top; while in another corner was a plant not so tall, but from every branch it grew a blossom, with 22 blooms on the stalk.

The tables were arranged with a display of bouquets of garden flowers filling several, while on one the winter bouquets were displayed; another held the wild flowers gathered by the children, while one which drew a great deal of attention was that on which were the unusual and the unique in garden products. Most notable on this table was a small plant, not over two inches in diameter, on which were an ear of corn, perfectly formed, but not over an inch and a half long; a cucumber, matured, about three-fourths inch long; a red pepper that was about a quarter inch in diameter, and a small ripe tomato, not a half inch in diameter.

Most grotesque were some of the vegetable and fruit exhibits, with twin peaches, cucumbers and potatoes in one group, while odd and fanciful shapes in other vegetables and fruits were attracting much attention.

Prizes Awarded
The young folks were given awards for their exhibits as follows: Most artistic bouquet—Alvira Gillett.

Asters—Louise Pizzitola.

Mixed bouquet—Mary Keefe, Wilda Payne.

Winter bouquet—Frank Shaffer.

Wild flowers—Eleanor Emery, Harriet Cross.

Unusual vegetables—Tony Capp, Elizabeth Yingling, John Knight.

Single asters—Roe Dicke. The nature study class at this school is taught by Miss Alice Schuch and the children belonging to the garden club of the school have taken unusual interest this year in their lessons as well as in their gardens.

Piles Go Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for many patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then added every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggists with a rigid money back guarantee with a rigid refund policy if they do not end Piles in any form.

Illegal To Use Registered Bottles For Other Purposes

Suggested It Is Unwise To Make Use Of Same In Canning

Fearing that some person might accidentally get into trouble through the using of a milk or other glass container which bears a name registered by the owner of the same for canning purposes, John G. Foster in speaking of the fact that it was yesterday published that some persons were even using milk bottles for canning jars, called attention to the law in the matter.

"I fear that some person may get into trouble," said Mr. Foster to a representative of The News, "as a result of the statement made that some people were even using milk bottles in the effort to relieve the scarcity of canning jars."

"Under the law, any milk or other glass container registered by the owner, may not be used for any other purpose by any other person and there is a heavy fine for each violation. Such registered containers are the property of the persons having them registered and represent their invested money and should not be used for canning or other purposes, under the provisions of the state law."

Schools Will Gather Clothing Here On Friday

Are Asked To Bring Garments To Help Provide For Needy Children

Attention of the school board at their meeting last evening was called to the fact Friday, September 18, has been designated as "Clothing Day" in the schools.

On that date, all schools will accept clothing and shoes from persons who desire to help provide for needy school children. Such clothing is to be sent to the Administration building to be distributed by the Health Department.

The announcement has been made in the schools and has also been sent to the various Parent-Teacher Associations. The fact that quick action in the matter is necessary has been stressed, as it has been found that many children attending the schools are badly in need of clothing, and that they will suffer when the weather turns colder.

Enrollment At Schools Growing

Increase For Start Of Year In City Schools Is About 250 Pupils

School enrollment is still increasing, Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green informed the board last evening. On the opening day 10,582 pupils were enrolled, an increase of 231 over the first day of 1930. This has been increased to 250 at the present time, Dr. Green stated.

Some of the schools showed decreases as high as 44, and the question was raised by Mr. McVenny as to whether it would not be possible to do away with a teacher in these buildings. Dr. Green stated that it would not, as the decrease was not in any one room, but was scattered throughout the building.

While some of the grade schools showed a decrease the junior high schools showed an increase, particularly in the case of Ben Franklin and the Senior High.

The statistical report follows:

School Secretary Has New Troubles

Must Act As Purchasing Agent For School Cafeterias Under New Law

Additional duties have been placed upon the broad shoulders of School Secretary Hugh M. Marquis, as the result of the passage of a new law by the recent legislature. Under the law, the secretary or some person, and in New Castle, it is the secretary, must act as purchasing agent for the school cafeterias and must keep a separate account of all monies received and expended.

One of the members jokingly suggested to Mr. Marquis last evening that he should attend the curb market sales and benefit by the bargains he might find there, in buying the cafeteria supplies.

Gandhi Undismayed By Threats Against Life

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 17.—Undismayed by threats against his life, Mahatma M. K. Gandhi, leader of India's Nationalists, made preparations today for a visit to the Lancaster cotton area, hard hit by his campaign in favor of home spinning by the natives of his country.

It was learned that Gandhi planned to visit Lancashire early next week, notwithstanding frequently heard assertions that he was in danger of being lynched if he entered the mill area where thousands have been thrown out of work by closing of India to Britain's cotton exports.

"If the Lancashire weavers think I am responsible for their plight and they wish to lynch me, they are welcome to do it," he said.

German police dog and he has never met with an accident. Visiting here, Frank said he traveled to Europe several years ago and took his trusty dog with him as a companion and guide.

If Germany doesn't get more help the poor thing won't be able to finish that other battleship.

Hugenots Will Join Celebration

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—When the Yorktown Sesqui-Centennial celebration is held at Yorktown, Virginia, October 16 to 20, in commemoration of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis and the end of the American Revolution, an important Pennsylvania society will be represented at the ceremonies.

Since the Hugenot Society of Pennsylvania, as well as Hugenot societies elsewhere, have an intimate connection with the incidents in the founding of the nation, it has been planned that they be present when the celebration of the end of the Revolution against Britain is commemorated.

Members of the Pennsylvania society will leave for Yorktown in a joint platform with the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution. They will go by boat, leaving Baltimore Friday, October 16.

Have you what is commonly called that Tired Feeling?

"Mother, I do wish you were well and strong"

"I just can't go on"—how often you hear this.

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living... pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count... the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter?"

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it, remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning... so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today? The latest size represents a price saving.

Why you should be interested in your Blood Count

(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red blood cells. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body, thus removing impurities from the system.

(Right) Weak, red blood cells, only 60 per cent of normal strength. Such a condition often explains why you feel weak, nervous, pale, run-down, listless, and tired.
